Churchill: A War Memory

This was an evening of the summer of 1943 . . . and London . . .

We were gathered in the lobby of the Savoy Hotel, viewing one another suspiciously. It still was light, with no hint of dusk, though the hour was 7 o'clock. A brisk gentleman took us to cabs and to the railway station. He saw us into a train, where we were assigned compartments.

We were a group going to America. Security measures seemed unusually strict. We separately had been told to meet at the Savoy at a certain hour. We were not informed where the blacked-out train was going. We did not know if we were to be provided aircraft transportation, or were to go by sea.

Somehow, after a long stay in wartime Britain, I could not sleep, though I tried. Most of the night I spent with the window down, leaning out and watching the landscape fly by—the darkened houses seen in the light of the late-rising moon . . . the shadowed towns through which we went without stopping, our whistle eerie with warning. . . . At dawn we were in Glasgow. It was a cold, harsh, wet day of driving rain. It passed slowly. Next morning it still was pouring. After an early breakfast of porridge, tea and toast, we strangers to one another were gathered and taken to another train. Then we knew it would not be an aircraft—but a ship at Greenock, in the great Clyde.

The Mary

Riding high at anchor was a huge gray ship. We went to her in lighters. Aboard we found she was the Queen Mary, not the Elizabeth. She was fitted out as a troopship, carrying as many as 15,000 men.

We were to slip past the barrier chains and out to sea after dark, rumor said. We did not. We, on B deck, would hear carpenter hammers going on A deck. All next day we rode at anchor. Late afternoon saw the carpenters off in a small two-decked harbor boat. (We did not know it until later, but they stayed on it—in the Clyde—until our ship had crossed.) Signs in Dutch had been put up about the ship, giving directions to quarters and lifeboats. Rumor had it we were to have Queen Wilhelmina board. That evening when those who finished dinner early sought to leave, they found the salon doors locked. They remained so for an hour. We sat wondering.

When we at last were released we learned Winston Churchill and a large staff were aboard. The carpenters had been making comfortable quarters for them.

We went through cold, foggy, rainy, sleety days—zig-zagging always . . . always with an escort. It was a weird, fascinating, tense, wondrous sort of journey.

Churchill

We saw Churchill often . . . once he granted the three newsmen aboard an interview. Once he came down the big stairway, resplendent in uniform, his equally gleaming staff with him, to inspect 2,000 Scottish air cadets on their way to Canada for advanced training. There were a number of English girls aboard, going to the Canadian homes of soldiers they had married in Britain. One had a small baby who, because of his soldier father, called every man in uniform "Daddy." As Churchill came by, the small boy wiggled in his mother's arms and cried out, loudly, "Daddy! Daddy!"

The mother was horrified. The great man smiled a wintry smile and went on. "Scotty," the baby, was a one-day hero. (Later I wrote his story for the Toronto papers.)

There was no entertainment, no recreation. In the late afternoons a Scottish piper, with the cadets, would bring out his pipes and play. The wailing lament of old Scottish border ballads and the skirl of the brisk new war songs would echo for a while over the afterdeck. Then the night would come. And our dark ship would ziz and zag through the darkness. (Later I learned we had gone by Greenland.)

One day we saw land. Late that afternoon we came into a harbor and the great ship was made fast at dock. We were in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Churchill and his party were en route to Quebec and the first of the war meetings with Franklin Roosevelt and his staff.

July Legislature Call Predicted as Griffin Okays More Teachers

Blocks Cut In Pay for Instructors

By M. L. ST. JOHN

A special tax raising session of the Georgia Legislature appears almost certain for July, top administration leaders said Wednesday.

This speculation developed after Gov. Griffin instructed local school systems throughout the state to go ahead and hire all the teachers they needed for next fall. The governor also declared his administration wouldn't permit a cut in pay for teachers.

The governor also hinted at a special session with this comment: "When it comes to funds needed to employ additional teachers and for school rooms and transportation, I am confident the members of the General Assembly will work with me to provide these needed school facilities."

SKIPS COMMENT

Griffin, who earlier this year said he didn't plan to call a special session, said Wednesday that he didn't want to comment on the possibility of a special session until the State Programs Study Commission makes its report.

Atlanta Sen. Everett Millican, president pro tem of the Senate and member of the study commission, said he thinks there will be a special session of the Legislature to approve revenue-raising measures.

"I don't see how we can get by without some type of additional revenue to finance the program the state is now operating," Millican said. "That does not take into consideration any expansion. I wouldn't want to say yet what type of tax measures should be considered, as I am studying that. I favor a state income tax withholding plan. Offhand I am opposed to increasing the sales tax."

OTHER PREDICTIONS

Other legislative leaders who are members of the study commission predicted their report would recommend new taxes.

Most of them foresaw a special session this summer. However, they would not predict whether the General Assembly would enact higher taxes.

If new taxes are to come, the legislative leaders agreed they would hit gasoline, cigarettes, income and perhaps liquor. Possibility of a soft drink tax was foreseen, with some firms increasing the price of drinks.

Robbers Get $305,243 Cash in N.Y. Bank Raid

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Four cocksure bandits, schooled to fine precision by six months of rehearsal, today pulled history's biggest cash bank holdup. They got $305,243, mostly in small bills.

The job went off as smooth as clockwork. Not a shot was fired, not an outcry raised.

"Don't do anything foolish," the victims were warned.

The robbers had painstakingly cased the bank, a Chase Manhattan branch in Queens. They remarked to one employe they had studied the layout for six months.

They knew the names and working habits of some 11 employes. They even knew first names of the people under their guns.

Three of the men, one with a submachine gun, operated as a field force, kidnaping a bank teller outside his home. They used him to gain entrance to the locked bank just before it opened for the day.

Nearly a third of a million dollars in neat packages lay at their mercy on the floor of the bank. It had just been taken from a vault.

In an unrelated holdup in Lower Manhattan, miles away from the bank, three masked men robbed a jewelry firm of $75,000 to $100,000 in uninsured diamonds.

A hastily set up FBI and police dragnet failed to intercept the bank bandits.

The loot in no way approached the record $1,219,000 taken in the Brinks Express Co. stickup in Boston five years ago. But it was easily the largest cash strike ever made against an American bank. Largest previous haul was $190,319 in 1953 from a Floral Park bank on Long Island.

The $271,000 holdup in 1911 of a Bank of Montreal branch in New Westminister, B. C., was believed to be the world's biggest cash bank job heretofore.

U.S. Ready With A-Punch If Hit, Radford Says in Macon

MACON, April 6 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford declared tonight that the United States will fight for its principles but will never provoke a war or start a preventive war.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said the Communists, particularly Russia and Red China, have posed such a threat to the free world that the United States must have military forces ready for "tremendous counter-offensive blows in event of a global war and also ready for lesser military actions when and as directed by our government."

Radford said the fact that we have such ready forces and that we have them with "flexible nuclear capacities should make it possible for free peoples everywhere to sleep a little safer at night."

Addressing the Macon Chamber of Commerce, the admiral said one of the best safeguards for peace in the face of the Communist threat is possession of the power to retaliate at the proper place by whatever military means are best suited to the situation at the time. He stressed that the doctrine of retaliation is not a new defense policy.

"Nor is it a policy that commits us to atomic retaliation against all forms of aggression," he said.

Radford said it is abundantly clear that Moscow schemes to create "one giant Red world with slavery and subordination for all," and that Red China wants "one completely Red Asia, one which includes Formosa and the Pescadores."

Greyhound Drivers---85 Here--Strike

More than 700 Atlantic Greyhound bus drivers—including 85 in Atlanta—were ordered out on strike early Thursday.

Federal Mediator Joseph Wright announced in Charleston, W.Va., that the strike began at midnight after separate, day-long meetings with company and union officials.

A strike wreaks havoc on the family budget. Page 18.

Wright said representatives of the Motor Coach Employes (AFL), which represents the drivers, and Atlantic Greyhound's bargaining team will resume contract negotiations at 2 p.m. April 11.

MAJOR ROUTES HIT

Major runs affected by the walkout were Atlanta to Charlotte and Atlanta to Columbia, which serve a number of the larger northeast Georgia cities.

Committeeman Harry Winters said pickets would not be posted at the terminal or garage unless Atlantic Greyhound officials tried to operate with non-union drivers.

Southeastern and Teche Greyhound union leaders said they would honor Atlantic Greyhound pickets, if they became necessary later.

RAIL FREIGHT JAM

Some rail traffic was moving in and out of Atlanta at a slowly accelerated pace on the strike-bound Louisville and Nashville Railroad and affiliated systems. However, it was termed "a drop in the bucket."

On another strike front, Atlanta police were seeking a young man and woman in connection with the shooting of telephone cables in the southwest section of the city. Some 175 phones were knocked out.

Atlanta police also reported the shooting of a 600-pair cable in the 1000 block of Ridge Avenue, SW, and a 400-pair cable at Allene and Catherine sts., SW.

Milder Friday, 65 Today, He Says

But Friday it will be fair and mild again, the weatherman added. A temperature range of 54-65 is due Thursday and extremes of 45-68 are expected Friday. Extreme readings here Wednesday were 57-79.

PIERRE, S.D., April 6 (AP)—Two Rapid City men reported to police today their red-painted 1931 truck, bought for $15, had been stolen.

Eden Prime Minister; New British Era Starts

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, April 6—Sir Anthony Eden was appointed Prime Minister and first lord of the Treasury today, and a new era in the political life of Britain began.

While the new Prime Minister told a cheering House of Commons, "I will do all I can to serve our country," Sir Winston, still indomitably jaunty, withdrew from Downing street into the silence of the English countryside.

The new guard for Buckingham Palace was forming in front of nearby Wellington Barracks when the new guard of British politics assumed trusteeship of the kingdom.

After Sir Anthony and the Queen had talked 40 minutes the following announcement was issued:

"The Queen received the Right Honorable Sir Anthony Eden, M.P., in audience this morning and offered him the post of prime minister and first lord of the Treasury. Sir Anthony Eden accepted her majesty's offer and

Ohio Markets Are Merging With Colonial

By JIM MONTGOMERY

The directors of Colonial Stores, Inc., Atlanta, and Albers Super Markets, Inc., Cincinnati, entered into an agreement in New York late Wednesday for the merger of the two firms.

Special meetings of the stockholders of both corporations will be called for May 10 to vote on the merger.

Under the plan, Albers would merge with Colonial. Albers stockholders would receive one and one-fourth shares of Colonial common stock for each share of Albers common stock.

Colonial has headquarters in Atlanta and currently operates a chain of 334 supermarkets in eight Southeastern states. Most of the stores of the near-44-million-dollar Atlanta firm are in Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

Religious Faiths

Disciples' Only Creed Is Christ; Only Doctrines: New Testament

This is the first part of the answer to the question "Who Are the Disciples of Christ?" in a series of articles on present-day religions. Other articles describe other faiths.

By JAMES E. CRAIG

Elder and Trustee of Park Avenue Christian Church, New York City

Who are the Disciples of Christ?

The Disciples of Christ constitute the largest indigenous American religious group, with around 1,800,000 adult communicants and some 8,000 autonomous congregations. In point of origin, the beliefs of the Disciples are as American as the Declaration of Independence. In point of liberty of individual conscience, they are as American as the Bill of Rights.

Some will say that the Disciples of Christ are a great evangelical Protestant denomination. Others will say that they are not a denomination at all, but the pure New Testament Church of Christ. Still others will prefer to describe them as a brotherhood, or a communion. Perhaps the most favored word among Disciples themselves is movement — a movement back to the New Testament and forward under God to ultimate unity of all who call themselves Christians.

Of the total of 1,800,000 communicants, some 1,300,000 are members of congregations cooperating through the International Convention of Disciples of Christ, which is a voluntary fellowship of local churches in the United States and Canada and of their various missionary, benevolent and educational agencies.

A "reporting convention" rather than a legislative body, it presents recommendations on every subject affecting the movement. These are advisory only, but, such is the convention's prestige, most of the recommendations are accepted by local congregations. Any Disciple may attend its meetings and vote. In this article, the word "Disciples" (unless otherwise specified) relates only to the congregations cooperating through the International Convention.

What are the tenets of their creed?

The Disciples have no creed but Christ and no doctrines save those which are found in the New Testament or are reasonably to be inferred therefrom.

The Disciples are God-centered, Christ-cen-

University System at Crossroads

Fund Lack Threatens State Farm Research

This is another in a series on the University System of Georgia and its needs. The final articles will appear in Sunday's Journal-Constitution.

By JACK SPALDING

Research is one of the prime functions of any university worthy of the name. In a state with the agricultural resources and problems of Georgia, agricultural research is of the first importance.

The University of Georgia is an old and skilled hand at this game. Experimental work in agriculture has been part of the state's life since the establishment of the first station at Experiment, near Griffin, in 1887. In addition to Griffin, there now are primary stations in Athens and Tifton. There are branch stations at Blairsville, Plains, Midville and Calhoun and field stations at Attapulgus, Alapaha, Eatonton and Georgia State Prison. Each has its specialty, for Georgia is a state of many climates, soil types and agricultural diversity.

These experiment stations are part of the University System of Georgia. They are the research and laboratory arm of the College of Agriculture of the University in Athens. Together with the Agricultural Extension Service, the picture is complete of an agricultural college that teaches, tests, and through the medium of county and home demonstration agents, carries its store of knowl-

2 More Nations Okay Bonn Arms

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 6, (AP)—Belgium and Luxembourg completed parliamentary ratification today of the Paris agreements for rearmament of West Germany. That leaves only two of the 15 nations involved—Denmark and the Netherlands—still to wind up action on the pacts.

The Belgian Senate approved the agreements 142-2. A pair of Communists made up the opposition. The Belgian House voted its approval Jan. 20.

In neighboring Luxembourg, the single-chamber Parliament ratified the agreements 48-3. Again the Communists made up the opposition.

Gen. Ridgway Has 'Not Altered' View Army Cuts Hurt Defense

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP) — Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said today he bowed to the decision to cut Army manpower but the reasoning on which he originally opposed it "has not altered."

Ridgway told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee the reduction was not recommended or concurred in by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Army had about 1,300,000 men at the start of this year, is down to around 1,270,000 now, and is scheduled to drop to 1,027,000 by the middle of 1956.

Under questioning, Ridgway said he had recommended that the Army be held at 1,300,000.

Twining Ridgway

"THEIR DECISION"

"My recommendations, while this was in the debate stage," the general said, "were of course made from the military point of view. I recognize fully that the civilian authorities of the government who make the final decision have many factors other than the military to consider. It was their decision that reduced to the figures you have before you."

The subcommittee is considering the 4-billion-dollar defense budget for the 1956 fiscal year beginning July 1. The Army's share of the budget is around seven billions.

The Air Force would get the biggest part—more than 14½ billions. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, said that will be adequate to meet Air Force needs, although Russia has made notable and surprising advances in planes and weapons in the last year that definitely threaten American security.

AIR FORCE BUILDUP

Twining also said the U. S. Air Force is being built up ahead of schedule and "should stay ahead," —with emphasis on quality, nuclear weapons and guided missiles.

He said Russia is known to be working on an intercontinental guided missile and has developed a new heavy jet bomber "aimed squarely in our direction."

The projected cutbacks in the Army have stirred up more controversy over the defense budget than any other issue.

Acting Secretary of the Army Charles Finucane staunchly upheld them—with Ridgway sitting beside him. Finucane complimented the general as "one of the greatest combat leaders and one of the most competent chiefs of staff of our time."

He went on to say there is a feeling among many people that the reduction should not be applied at this time.

"We emphatically do not hold with this concept," he declared. "The Army, at its present strength has twice as many men in it as it had at the outbreak of the Korean War. The Army today has more materiel, is better equipped to fight, and has a higher degree of training than ever before in peacetime."

He said it is ready and willing to take care of any "brush-fire" wars and that in the event of a global war "everybody" will be called into service.

Answering a question whether the Army is sufficiently prepared to meet any emergency in the Formosan area, Finucane replied, "I believe we are ready to go at any moment."

Stassen Holds Documents From Senate Probe Panel

Must Lay Own Eye on Them First, He Says; McCarthy Charges Lying

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen declined today to hand over 10 documents to the Senate Investigations subcommittee until he has a chance to review them. He said they were confidential exchanges within the government's executive branch.

Stassen, head of the Foreign Operations Administration, thus tangled again with senators who say they are determined to get all the facts on an FOA project to build some grain elevators in Pakistan.

"You understand," Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) told him, "that in event of your refusal this committee would have no remedy but to subpoena the documents. Would you resist a subpoena?"

Stassen declined to say. "The premise of the whole matter is an 'if' situation," he told McClellan. "I would prefer to see whether the 'if' situation ever arises."

McCARTHY ACCUSES

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), an old Stassen antagonist, at one point accused the foreign aid chief of lying under oath and demanded he be called before a grand jury.

What aroused McCarthy was Stassen's testimony that when McCarthy ran the subcommittee, its investigators would not let FOA witnesses see the transcripts of their testimony and the witnesses were cross-examined on the basis of "doctored" transcripts.

"Mr. Stassen has perjured himself," McCarthy said. "He is not telling the truth. He knows that and we know that."

McCarthy challenged Stassen to identify a single transcript that was doctored. Stassen was unable to do so. He said, however, the whole record of the McCarthy-Army hearings last year would show what he was talking about.

ASK 32 DOCUMENTS

In all, McClellan asked Stassen for 21 documents. The witness agreed to produce 11 of them but said he would have to review the other 10 because they were in the nature of confidential exchanges within his agency.

Stassen said it was bad practice for congressional investigators to ask executive agency employes why they make certain recommendations. He said the head of the agency is the one to hold responsible.

McClellan said they were acting as government employes, and should be held responsible.

"Any memorandum from me, there is no question about—I will furnish that," Stassen said.

Stassen brought to the morning session a prepared statement saying he would start all over on the Pakistan project, calling for new bids. He said he wanted to maintain what he called the FOA's record of never having been touched by the "breath of scandal."

McClellan commented that "none of us would be here now" investigating the case if FOA had, in the first place, rejected the original bids after changing specifications for the project.

HIGHEST BIDDERS

The investigation got started because of complaints that FOA picked the highest of the original bidders, the Agricultural Construction Co. of Los Angeles, to do the job.

"I do not wish to enter into any contract," Stassen said, "upon which claims of unfairness or favortism or pressure can be made."

He said he had found no indication of misconduct in the contract negotiations but "would appreciate being promptly advised" if the subcommittee finds any.

Actress Says Husband Denied Her Maid; Divorce Judge Grants Couple Twin Beds

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 6 (AP)—Actress Anne Francis won a divorce today after testifying her husband said it was "important for my character" to do without a maid although, she said, she was working 12 hours a day at her studio.

Under a property agreement, Miss Francis was awarded one twin bed and her husband, Bamblet L. Price Jr., a film producer, the other. She asked no alimony, but was awarded $4,000 she said she loaned him.

"He seemed to feel all actors had a rather easy life," she testified. "He seemed to feel that actors weren't worth much."

She charged mental cruelty. The couple married in 1952 and separated Feb. 20.

Say Carney Predicted Red Attack

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Two newspapers said today notes taken by their reporters at a March 24 "background dinner" quote Adm. Robert E. Carney as predicting a mid-April Communist attack on Matsu.

Carney, chief of naval operations, declined comment on the stories in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and the Chicago Sun-Times. But the Defense Department said Carney "gave his statement" to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee yesterday. He denied then that he ever made such a prediction.

The furor over whether Carney did or did not forecast a Red attack stems from a dinner he had with a group of Washington correspondents.

Judge Fails in Try To Break the Law

MEMPHIS, April 6 (AP)—City traffic judge Beverly Boushe tried his best to break the law yesterday. He failed.

Heard that one before, said the judge. Jones persisted. Boushe decided to see for himself. He took Jones' truck out for a spin and finally managed to equal the city's 30-mile-an-hour limit—going downhill.

Tornadoes' Casualties 28 in Texas

SHERMAN, Tex., April 6 (AP)—One man was killed, 27 injured and damage was in the millions as tornadoes and severe windstorms smashed across a 5,000-square-mile area of north central Texas today.

Greatest damage was in the heavily populated northern suburb of this city on the main highway leading to the nearby city of Denison.

DAMAGE HEAVY

The storm here was listed as severe wind rather than a tornado. Heavy wind damage also was reported at Bonham, Pilot Point and Sanger, and in the area of Henrietta and Jacksboro. Lesser damage was caused in numerous other towns and communities.

Killed in a Sherman suburb was Lee Barnes, 60, an oil well drilling rig nightwatchman. He apparently was killed by flying debris.

Many homes here were lifted from their foundations, some were unroofed and other hundreds suffered lesser damage. Pipes carrying natural gas were broken. Blown-down signs littered the highways and TV antennas were bent like wheat straws.

PLANES WRECKED

Nearby Perrin Air Force Base suffered considerable damage. Two planes were lifted and smashed into a building, two large hangars were unroofed and planes torn from their moorings as winds reached 81 m.p.h.

Crop damaging hail occurred at several places and at some spots covered the ground like snow.

Dead Child Diver's Dad Loses Appeal

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 6 (AP)—The Florida Supreme Court today ordered Russell Tongay to serve 10 years at hard labor for the high-dive death of his world-famed "aquatot" daughter.

Tongay, a husky, 37-year-old ex-Coast Guardsman, has been free on appeal since his sentencing in January 1954. His attorney said he probably will petition the high tribunal for a rehearing on today's decision upholding the manslaughter conviction.

Kathy Tongay, a skinny, five-year-old who was billed with her brother, Bobby, as the "Aquatots," died May 6, 1953, several hours after the 33-foot dive which the state contends resulted in a fatal injury.

But Tongay argued in his appeal he could not foresee the results of the dive and that Kathy was an accomplished diver who had repeatedly plunged off the tower at a Miami Beach hotel pool.

The court said Tongay, "should not have permitted his zeal or obsession to make a high diver of his immature children to cause him to lose or forget all sense of the hazard."

Truce Hope For Saigon Is Faltering

SAIGON, Indochina, April 6. (AP)—The tense situation in free South Viet Nam worsened tonight despite the promise of a seven-day "Easter truce" won by President Eisenhower's special envoy, Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

Gen. Collins

Fresh troop movements, a bombing and the resignation of Foreign Minister Tran Van Do from the shaky government of pro-American Premier Ngo Dinh Diem threatened to upset the uneasy truce momentarily.

REINFORCEMENTS

Diem moved 20 truck loads of paratrooper reinforcements into government lines in the heart of Saigon in spite of the truce agreement.

A bomb, believed planted by members of the rebellious Binh Xuyen and Hoa Hao sects, exploded in the house of a Chinese customs inspector. Five persons were wounded.

The foreign minister's resignation was announced officially and two other ministers of Do's Tin Tan (light) party were expected to follow him.

FACING REBELS

Diem's paratroop reinforcements took up prepared positions along the broad Boulevard Gallieni, overlooking the muddy Chinese Arroyo which separates Saigon from Cholon.

Cholon, the teeming Chinese suburb of the capital, is the headquarters of the rebel Binh Xuyen sect and its 10,000 private troops. Diem has about 12,000 men deployed in the Saigon area.

Only a week ago street fighting between the opposing forces resulted in 26 deaths and injury to 112 persons.

Heads 2 Units

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—American Brake Shoe Co. today announced that John S. Hutchins, president of Ramapo Ajax division, was named president of the National Bearing division, too. Thomas W. Pettus, formerly president of the bearing division, was assigned to over-all railroad sales for the company.

Sir Anthony Eden Is Logical Choice

Selection of Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister of Great Britain to succeed Sir Winston Churchill comes as no surprise. In fact, Churchill himself long ago selected him for the job and in many matters in recent years Eden has served as deputy prime minister.

Long a prominent figure in Britain and on the world stage, Eden has undergone a long period of training for one of the world's most crucial jobs. He has proved himself a man of courage, willing to oppose his own party even at the risk of destroying his career.

He risked his political life in 1938 at age 41 when after bitter attack on Chamberlain's appeasement he abruptly quit the cabinet in protest. As it turned out, this action led to his connection with Churchill and his steady rise in British politics. Throughout the entire period of Churchill's service as prime minister, he has been the government's right hand in foreign affairs.

Married to Churchill's niece, Sir Anthony will have his help and guidance as would no other man. Under the circumstances, the changeover will have very little effect on British policies. And the Conservatives are in a splendid position for the general election that is sure to come within a matter of weeks.

The new prime minister, like Churchill, is a friend of the United States and is dedicated to the idea of Anglo-American cooperation as the only possible way to maintain stability in the free world. He feels that the English-speaking nations form the only center of ideology and power able to withstand a militant and aggressive communism.

While he has differed with us at times, these differences are primarily clashes of national interests, not of ideas.

Sir Anthony Eden is a happy choice for the United States. He brings to free world affairs a continuity of policies that he has helped to make.

Atlantans Again Prove Belief in Red Cross

Once more Greater Atlanta has proved that it is a community with a heart. The 1955 Red Cross fund quota has been oversubscribed.

Atlanta has a habit of meeting its Red Cross quotas, without outside help and within the allotted time. Our community often is first in the land in coming under the Red Cross campaign wire.

Such success is not happenstance. It is due to splendid leadership in both the paid and volunteer Red Cross brackets. It is due to the drive and persistence of volunteer workers. It is due mostly to the fact that Atlantans accept their obligations as neighbors one to another.

The Constitution congratulates 1955 campaign cochairmen G. Maynard Smith, Henry A. Maddox and W. Kelley Mosley and their aides on their achievement—the collection of $542,410 against a quota of $542,302, which represented an increase over the 1954 goal.

The President Is Right On Minimum Wage Rise

President Eisenhower urgently has asked the Congress to raise the federal minimum wage law limit from 75 cents to 90 cents. Both the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O. want it to be even higher

We certainly go along with the President. The minimum wage, which applies almost entirely to unskilled workers, certainly is too low. The cost of living has increased greatly since the 75-cent minimum was established. The increase would help those who need it most in the very lowest income brackets. We join the President in urging the Congress to raise it to 90 cents.

The U.S. 'Revolution' Is Picking Up Speed

Regardless of critics of American policies—and these are with us through Democratic or Republican administrations—the course of history will show eventually a remarkable continunity. This is proved again by recent studies of the U.S. Department of Commerce that show the steady "Americanization" of the free world.

Familiar enough is the story of the billions that this country has spent through its government to restore shattered economies and to rebuild the military and productive strength of our war-torn allies Little has been told, however, of the accompanying increase of private investments abroad.

These investments have doubled since 1946 and the government today is pursuing policies to encourage more and more investors to risk their money abroad.

In 1946 total U.S. investments in foreign countries approximated $13,500,000,000. Today there are $25,000,000,000 of private U.S. funds working in Canada, Latin America, Asia, Africa, Australia and Europe.

These growing investments are being accompanied by American methods of mass production and competition for mass markets. The result is a revolution in production and distribution. Foreign-owned companies are copying these methods and are going after markets that never before were touched.

Take Britain as an example. Its people today are more prosperous than ever before in history and the demand for goods far exceeds the work force and ability of British industry to satisfy it. Gadgets that formerly were restricted to the luxury class—refrigerators, television sets and hundreds of other consumer items—are being mass produced and sold. Slowly the aftermath of American aid is transforming a whole continent's economy.

The opportunities for the future are unlimited if American trade policies and other foreign affairs are conducted with the vision needed. Americans, who have the capital and the know-how, will be doing business on an increasing scale in vastly growing markets to the south, east and west of us.

If our investments, our methods and policies are exported so as to produce rising standards of living, the next century will belong to America—and the world's people will be entering their greatest era of prosperity.

Adlai Stevenson Finds A Chicago 'Jim Farley?'

Democrats Tuesday elected Richard J. Daley as mayor of Chicago in an election which soothsayers had predicted as a "photo finish." Swamped by the voters was GOP Alderman Robert E. Merriman, a former Democrat who turned his coat and ran as a Republican.

There was never any attack on Daley's character or ability. He is a good man, of 25 years' experience in party politics, and the GOP was never able to make their "reform" ticket idea seem valid. A lot of national attention was focused on the race, and the fact that Merriman had tremendous financial support, and was himself a good man, enabled him to make a substantial showing. The national organization apparently entertained high hopes of a victory which they badly need to restore some lost prestige.

Daley's election is important nationally for the Democrats. In 1952 the Cook County Democratic organization was never effective. Its organizational structure was not sound. It had no leadership which could get out the vote.

Now, it may be said that if Adlai Stevenson wishes the nomination he can have it—and if he takes it he has found, in Daley, his "Jim Farley."

Parents Are Responsible For Under-Age Drivers

In Statesboro, it took the death of a 14-year-old boy riding a motor scooter to make citizens painfully aware of the fact that it is illegal for persons under 16 to operate any kind of a motor vehicle, scooters included.

Following the accident, the police in the Bulloch County seat warned that every operator of any kind of motor vehicle must have a license, that one must be 16 to apply for a license and that a learner's license is not sufficient to operate a scooter.

Commenting on the tragedy and the public reaction, The Bulloch Herald said, "It is senseless to remind ourselves that something like this (that is, the police warning) should have been done the day the first kid sat astride one of these potential killers . . .

"In the darkness following this death, it is a good time for parents to look at the proposition of their boys, not yet men, operating motor scooters—and the family car."

The problem of under-age drivers and scooter riders is prevalent and common, in Statesboro, Atlanta, and in every other community.

Police can warn and they can try to enforce, but the key to keeping the underage youngsters off the scooter and from behind the wheel of the car hangs in the home.

Savannah Morning News

The adage, driving and drinking don't mix, may have to be revised to include basketball, if a recent incident in Concord, N.H., sets a precedent. Police asked three teen-age boys why their automobile crashed into a house late one night. The driver said they were so busy discussing a basketball game that everyone forgot about the road. Of course, the new saying, don't mix driving and basketball, would apply only to those who lose themselves in conversation.

Public Service Commission Is Leading Fight Against Proposed 15 Pct. Gas Rate Boost

Mableton—Seems to be a big cry to shoot our Public Service Commission. Matter of fact, they are the only ones who are fighting to keep prices down. I understand the commission is going to Washington to protest the proposed 15 per cent raise, which is set up by the wholesaler to be passed on to the retailer, who will pass it on to the consumer.

The raising of the rates is based on the dollar earning and I don't think any gas company in Georgia will get a penny out of it.

The Georgia General Assembly had a bill up to look into all these services, but never got it out.

West Must Maintain Strong Economic Unity

Blacksburg, Va.—The most important economic problem of our time is that of barriers to international trade. This problem is especially important now because of the struggle between Western civilization and Communism.

If the West is to win the present conflict, it will need to maintain a strong economic unity. Present restrictions to international trade weaken this unity and may ultimately destroy it. H. YOUNG.

He Was Marine Guard During Queen's Visit

Augusta — I am and have always been a great admirer of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. I used to work on The National Youth Administration in Atlanta, Ga. I volunteered in the U.S. Marines before we entered World War II. I was stationed at the Maring Barracks, 8th and I Streets, Washington, D.C. I was an honor guard at The White House when Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands visited President F. D. Roosevelt. This was prior to our entrance into the conflict. That is a moment I will treasure forever. JOHN W. SWEAT.

Big Men Are Trying To Justify Asian War

Atlanta—Again the "big" men are wangling the country into the orbit of their own unwise commitments in the hope of justifying another war in Asia.

We must change our opinion of big men. It is false to assume that everything is determined by leadership. It is the supineness of the people that makes Mr. Big look so important.

The aspect of a war economy has drawn a curtain before the eyes of a generation who know nothing of responsible government.

Democrats Unhappy Over Far East Role

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in Washington are unhappy about the administration's handling of the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, but in retrospect, they are almost as dissatisfied with their own record on these islands.

For they had a chance in a series of private meetings Jan. 20-23 to make clear the fears they are now expressing about getting involved in protecting these off-shore positions, and though they mentioned their doubts at the time, they did not make their opposition effective.

The background of this was as follows:

Early in January, after seeking the views of other Democratic experts on foreign affairs, the Democratic National Committee circulated a memorandum pointing to the dangers in the Formosa Strait situation, questioning the wisdom of signing a mutual defense treaty with Nationalist China, and concluding:

"It would therefore seem to be in the interest of the United States to separate Formosa and the Pescadores from the power struggle for control of the mainland of China."

This memorandum was written by Benjamin V. Cohen, former top assistant to Secretary of State Byrnes. It was rejected by Democratic leaders in Congress, however, partly because Sen. George had agreed to go along with the State Department's draft of the mutual defense treaty with the Nationalists and partly because the Democratic leaders took the view that they, and not the national committee, should be defining Democratic policy on these questions.

This division of Democratic opinion was still in process a week later, Jan. 18, when the Chinese Communists captured the Island of Yikiang, seven and a half miles northwest of the Tachen Islands off the coast of China.

On Jan. 20, Dulles raised the question of defending the so-called offshore islands with Sen. George and other congressional leaders in a private meeting at the State Department. That was on a Thursday.

The following day, the State and Defense Departments and the National Security Council approved a draft of the proposed resolution in which Congress was to authorize the President to use his judgment in defending the islands, and the draft was taken by Asst. Secretary of State Thurston Morton and Francis Wilcox, chief clerk of the Foreign Relations Committee, to Sen. George's apartment in the Mayflower Hotel on that Saturday afternoon.

The next day, a Sunday, Sen. George called a meeting of the Democrats on the Foreign Relations Committee at his office on Capitol Hill, and though doubts were expressed, particularly by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, about the wisdom of getting the prestige of the U.S. involved in the defense of islands so close to the China mainland, the Democrats agreed to go along.

Thus, the Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill rejected the doubts of their own experts on the Formosa Straits policy, and agreed in private to go along with the administration on the ground, as Sen. George put it, that there was "no alternative."

Throughout the debate, the voice of the titular head of the party, Adlai E. Stevenson, was not heard, and though the Democrats, by virtue of having been in power for 20 years, number among their ranks some of the most experienced Americans in the field of foreign affairs, the views of these experts were either not sought or brushed aside in the critical private conferences of Jan. 20-23.

Looking back on all this, the Democrats are not happy. They acquiesced privately in the Quemoy-Matsu arrangement, when, as many of them now believe, it would have been in their own and the national interest to separate the question of the defense of Formosa from the other more difficult question of the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

Giving Credit Where It's Due

The inveterate moviegoer long has been accustomed to the unreeling of credit lines—Produced by Joe Blow; Directed by Joe Glow; Adapted from the play by Joe Doe; Based on the novel by Joe Slow; Scenery by Union Pacific; Make-up by Guess; Sound Effects by Accident, and so on. The TV viewer is getting used to the same pattern. I heard somewhere that in the industry the listing of the "who-done-what" is known as the "creep crawl."

This is the way the credits would read if this column followed the movie-television plan. No names have been changed to protect the innocent.

The above column was:

HIGHLINES: Scientists tell us that one out of every 12 babies being born now will have to go to some mental institution. We wonder if it might help if we could stop giving statistics, forecasts, stop-watch regulations to life and sort of let life run along in natural courses.—J. K. Hutchings in the Towns County Herald.

We have often commented that it is difficult to direct someone to the Perry post office, because it just doesn't look like a post office. Now it looks more like a post office because they have put a good-size American flag on top of the building. When someone asks where the P. O. is, you can tell them it's the building right yonder with the flag on top.—Cooper Etheridge in The Houston Home Journal.

'I Thirst' Was Fifth Word From Cross

"I thirst" (John 19:28).

During the years which followed Good Friday and Easter, whenever Christians gathered for prayer and praise, they recalled the incidents of Christ's life. One person might repeat a parable and another might remember the occasion when Christ's healing touch brought strength and health.

Another might look lovingly at her son, now a man of mature years, and recall that Christ had tenderly stroked his head when He had called little children to His side. Another would repeat Christ's assurance of God's love. Still another, having now turned from his evil ways, remembered that Christ had shown him the better way.

And those who gathered together in Christ's name rehearsed moment by moment the experiences in His Passion. The details became vivid and clarified by repetition. The Passion was central in their worship. No detail seemed too insignificant and no detail was without meaning. They meditated upon the fifth Word from the Cross, the simple statement expressing need, "I thirst."

Those who knew Christ best and those who relived in worship the story of Christ's life never doubted His divinity. Even His enemies knew that He was not like other men. And Pilate called Him a king. The Gospels do not attempt to "prove" Christ's divinity, for there was no doubt about that. But they were concerned that readers should appreciate Christ's humanity. Christ was both Son of God and Son of Man. Only as He shares the nature of God and the nature of man does He speak to men with the authority of God.

The fifth Word from the Cross is ar evidence of Christ's humanity. On the Cross Christ languished. Pain wracked His body. His lips became parched and dry. "After this, Jesus, knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst. Now there was set a vessel full of vinegar; and they filled a sponge with vinegar and put it upon hyssop, and put it to His mouth. When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, He said, "It is finished." (John 19:28-30.)

There were Roman soldiers around the Cross. They had discredited Jesus with their mock worship of Him, their crown of thorns and their purple robe. But when Christ had been raised above their heads, they were amazed that He asked God to forgive them. Their hearts were moved. One of the soldiers showed that even in the most hardhearted man there is a lingering compassion. The sponge was offered to relieve thirst. Perhaps this soldier was the centurion who later exclaimed, "Truly this man was the Son of God." (Mark 15:39.)

The centurion's heart was moved by Christ's love. Tradition says that this confession was followed by the centurion's faithful discipleship. Be that as it may, humanity has ever since been moved to exclaim that only God's Son could love as Christ loved.

State-Level Laws Sought by Labor

WASHINGTON—Organized labor is beginning to realize that the real battleground for labor legislation today lies with the states, not with the federal government.

Right now solid headway toward improved labor laws is being made in more than half of the states. An important part of the credit goes to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell who has been bestirring himself in ways which have brought more action than publicity.

Conservative, Republican Governor Fred Hall of Kansas, sent to his legislature last week an earnest, ringing veto of a so-called "right-to-work" bill. In the judgment of Secretary Mitchell this "commendably courageous" action may well mark the turning point in the trend in numerous states toward what he and other friends of labor believe are unhelpful, unfairly restrictive and unrealistic statues which embitter labor and solve no real problems.

Despite the fact that Mr. Eisenhower has not made up his mind as to the propriety of the so-called "right-to-work" laws, it is with the President's consent that Secretary Mitchell is exerting his influence to discourage the passage of these state laws.

The "right-to-work" statute, which prevails in 18 states today and which Gov. Hall vetoed, would make illegal the kind of union-security contract which approximately 1,400 of the 1,700 largest American companies have signed with unions covering 6,000,000 workers.

The "right-to-work" statutes would make it illegal for any person to be denied a job because he refuses to join the union. This is a genuinely appealing proposition in theory until its implications and effects are examined.

The effect is to deprive management of the right to sign a contract with a union for a union shop or for any lesser degree of union security. The effect is to deprive the employes of the right to negotiate for a union shop. The effect is to deny management and labor the right to bargain collectively over this issue and then require all employes to accept the conditions supported by management and the majority of employes. Gov. Hall put his views in these words:

"I am aware of the fact that many states have enacted ("right-to-work") laws. In doing so I believe they have acted contrary to the great heritage and freedoms of America. . . ."

Following a letter from the Secretary of Labor to the governors, 13 states have made improvements this year in the benefits and duration of benefits in unemployment compensation. Twelve other states have legislation pending.

There is currently more activity in the states for better labor legislation than at any time in the past 15 years and the stimulator of much of it is President Eisenhower's second Secretary of Labor, the quietly energetic Mr. Mitchell.

Churchill Rejoined U.S. and England

WASHINGTON—What strikes this reporter in thinking back over the Churchill career, and the impression he created as a man over here among our own people, is that he did more to bind our people and the British people together than any figure in this century.

Under his inspiration we returned to a common heritage once again. Because of this common heritage, the two nations together were able to regenerate the spirit of the whole Western world and to make it once more nearer a unity and nearer a union than it ever had been.

That union saved the Western world from the corrupting menace of Nazism; today it is a bulwark against corroding communism.

In helping to create defenses against both, Winston Churchill was the warning voice and the ready hand. He spotted each succeeding totalitarian danger for what it was long before anybody else. He called out the alarm and, for a time, in vain, so that the task of defense, once undertaken, was the harder.

For all of that our people admired him and came to love him. We like a scrapper, and he always was that. He has what we call "guts."

But there is something else in him that appeals peculiarly to Americans. In groping around for explanations, we may find some of it in a contrast.

For that let us go back to the period after World War I. In the wave of disillusion that swept over this country after our first big adventure into world politics, which drove us into isolationism, there was devised a variety of rationalizations, some of them quite fanciful, about why we had ever gotten into that war.

A popular one was that the wily British had tricked us into that war to save their empire. From this there developed naturally the caricature of the clever English diplomat, equipped with monocle, spats, fancy waistcoat, who would corner our own diplomats, pictured as naive and simple-minded, at a lawn party and twist them around British fingers.

But somehow Winston Churchill never got identified in that way, though we now know, and have for some time, that he is one of the most skillful and adroit politicians and diplomats with whom we ever have dealt. We knew him in a "bowler," but he never was the stock Englishman, nor the stock diplomat.

When he rallied all England with those stirring, marching phrases about fighting the invading Nazis on the beaches and in the hedgerows, he became truly our own—he was our own pioneer defending his crude cabin in the wilderness from the encircling Indians, or, if you please, the untrained American militia standing up to the handsomely accoutered British redcoats, strange as that may sound in this context.

He has somehow made himself an American to us.

SCIENCE LOOKED AT THE FACE OF A CHILD TO HELP YOU

1. In the face of a child lies the secret of young-looking skin: natural oils that keep the skin soft, fresh. In time, your skin loses these precious oils—making your complexion faded, dry, subject to lines and wrinkles.

Bring back the "Look of Youth" with New WOODBURY Lanolin Formula

Lanolin — Nature's own "essence of youth" in a new deeply penetrating liquid formula!

2. Now you can help replace those precious oils, with Woodbury Lanolin Formula! It's a liquid concentrate of highly refined lanolin so pure and flawless that you can see right through it! Your skin really drinks it up.

3. Just a few golden drops — and lanolin penetrates your skin deeply. That "dried out" feeling vanishes! The years seem to lift from your face! New Woodbury Lanolin Formula will help you to bring back the "look of youth"!

5. Now you can stay in the younger generation — by keeping your skin looking young with new Woodbury Lanolin Formula! It's far richer in lanolin than old-fashioned face creams, and you'll find it delightfully fragrant.

6. Use New Woodbury Lanolin Formula as a miraculous softener to smooth your skin to velvety perfection. Use it as a night cream for overnight softening . . . as a deep penetrating cleanser . . . as the perfect make-up base.

4. See it happen before your eyes! Dulling flakes disappear! Dry lines (that lead to wrinkles) actually begin to melt away! Lanolin has never gone deeper. Your skin has never felt smoother — has never felt fresher — and more youthfully alive!

Fund Lack Cuts Farm Research

edge into every farm home in Georgia.

The agricultural experiment stations have meant millions in increased farm income over the years. Since their integration with the College of Agriculture in 1950-51, their scope has been broadened and efficiency increased.

Every dollar invested in them is returned many times. We are living now on farm products made possible by the research of 25 years ago. If America's increasing population is to eat in the future, it will be as the result of experiments under way now.

Experts estimate it will take 60 per cent more food to supply the demands of the population by 1975. To produce this will require 115,000,000 more acres of arable land. This land just isn't available. The only answer is research. We must continue to discover ways to increase the yield per acre.

INCREASE 30 PER CENT

In the last quarter century research such as that of the College of Agriculture has increased crop yields 30 per cent per acre. Fewer people are raising a lot more bushels, bales and pounds of food, meat, and other crops on a lot less acreage. If industry is to keep expanding, if America is to maintain its living standards, this process of so few raising so much for so many must be continued.

To the experiment stations of the University of Georgia belong the distinction of producing more hybrids and varieties of crops than those of any other Southern state. A lot of this work is done in cooperation with the United State Department of Agriculture and a lot has benefited the whole wide South.

Among Georgia's recent major contributions is Coastal Bermuda grass, developed at Tifton by Dr. Glenn Burton. It is a cross between a Tift County Bermuda and an African Bermuda. It is tough, drought resistant, a luxuriant grower and a fine hay crop. It results in over 100 pounds more beef per acre than common Bermuda. It, and other grasses developed by the experiment stations, are the base of the state's relatively new and thriving cattle industry.

MAJOR POULTRY FACTOR

Poultry now is a major contributor to Georgia's prosperity. Research in poultry feeding and control of disease by these stations is a major factor in the success of the state's poultry breeders.

The list of accomplishments is a long one. Hybrid corn developed in Georgia has more than doubled the average yield per acre. Cotton acreage is way down, but the yield per acre in pounds and dollars is up. And so it goes in peanuts, pecans, pimientoes, tobacco, tomatoes, lettuce, swin, sheep, the whole broad field of Georgia agriculture.

The agricultural experiment stations, like the Engineering Experiment Station at Georgia Tech, operate partly on state appropriations. They get a good deal of federal money too, and like the Tech experiment station, derive income from the sale of goods and services.

LACK FUNDS

The total budget of the experiment stations of the University of Georgia's College of Agriculture is $2,248,250. The state contributes $904,000 of the amount. Like other parts of the University System they are faced with increased demands for their services and a shortage of personnel and equipment. It has been necessary to curtail some important programs recently because of lack of funds, and more may have to be abandoned before the year is out.

Research, basic and applied, is at the bottom of all technological and agricultural progress. A great part of Georgia's future depends on research done today through the medium of the University System.

Mississippian To Address Rotary Here

Allison G. Brush of Laurel, Miss., representative of Rotary International, will be principal speaker Thursday night at the opening session of Rotary's District 240 conference at the Biltmore Hotel.

Allison Brush

The three-day meeting will be the district's Golden Anniversary conference. Former Gov. Herman Talmadge will address the conference at a luncheon Friday.

Postal Receipts Rise 8.01 Pct.

Postal receipts, a barometer of business activity, were 8.01 per cent higher in Atlanta last month than in March of 1954.

Acting Postmaster B. F. Sanders Wednesday said the receipts totaled $1,615,445.41 last month as compared to $1,495,639.97 for the same month last year.

March cancellations came to 29,108,589.

Higher Gas Rate Asked in 40 Georgia Cities

Higher rates were asked by the Atlanta Gas Light Co. Wednesday to offset a $3,802,000-a-year increase in the wholesale cost of gas the company distributes to about 40 Georgia cities.

The company asked the Public Service Commission for permission to boost its residential rates by 13 per cent and its commercial rates by 14.9 per cent.

The commission promised an early decision, since the increase in wholesale charges to Atlanta Gas Light by the Southern Natural Gas Co. went into effect April 1.

AGL Vice President D. A. Crawford emphasized to the commission that his company wants to raise its rates only high enough to cover its own increased costs.

"We do not seek an additional profit," he said.

If the rate boosts are approved a home owner with a monthly gas bill of $4 will have to pay 52 cents additional. A commercial user with a $100 monthly bill must pay $14.90 additional.

RELIGIOUS FAITHS: Disciples of Christ Move Back to New Testament

tered, Bible-centered, with no creedal formula but one—the answer of the Apostle Peter to a question from Jesus himself: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." Open confession of this faith and acceptance of the Nazarene as Lord and Savior, and Baptism (by immersion) are all that may be demanded of a candidate for admission. The Disciples are inclined to regard formal creeds and historical sects as milestones on the highway of an evolving theology.

PRIESTHOOD OF ALL

The Disciples believe in the priesthood of all believers; that is, that the believer can reach the Throne of Grace without any human intermediary. According to authorizations they find in the New Testament, they have evangelists, pastors, elders and deacons. But they look upon these officers only as useful instruments sanctioned by the Apostles. They never doubt the right of any man to go directly to God by prayer, for guidance in all problems arising in the conscience. They place absolute trust in Divine mercy and good will. They nevertheless encourage pastoral consultation and advice.

How do the Disciples differ from other Protestants?

Disciples have no catechism and no prescribed rituals. Disciples do not accept the doctrine of Apostolic succession. Hence, they have no archbishops or bishops or hierarchy of ecclesiastical authority. They interpret the New Testament words for "bishop" and "elder" as synonyms for a single lay office, elective by the congregation and in no sense authorized or regulated from above.

Disciples believe that confession of faith in Jesus as the Christ requires no added metaphysical doctrine. They regard conversion as a voluntary, rational act which does not require special revelation. In receiving a new member, they take the applicant's statement at face value. They employ no formula of interrogation.

Disciples believe that a Christian's right to Holy Communion is a matter for his own conscience. They admit to the Lord's Supper any baptized person, without regard to his sectarian affiliation.

LIBERTY OF OPINION

Perhaps the most notable difference between Disciples and many other Protestant groups is the Disciples' emphasis upon individual liberty of opinion; upon each believer's right to interpret the Scriptures in his own way.

Disciples base their whole appeal upon a simple outline of faith and a democratic system of church government. They have no sense of rivalry among the denominations. They hold that so long as a member accepts the simple faith, and the idea of democratic government in the church, he may believe what his mind dictates about many of the tenets of other Christian bodies.

Disciples observe with joy that the differences among Protestants are receiving less and less attention today, while the many things they have in common are receiving more and more. To Disciples, the rising trend toward mutual grounds of faith marks a steady advance toward ultimate church unity. And in this field, the Disciples have made their influence most heavily felt.

They have been in the forefront of almost every important cooperative and ecumenical movement. Thirty-nine Disciples were active in establishing the old Federal Council of Churches; 200 are enrolled in the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.; 14 Disciple leaders serve the World Council of Churches.

What do the Disciples believe about the Bible?

COMMON BELIEF

The Disciples share the common Protestant belief that the Bible (except for the apocryphal books) is the Word of God, written by different persons at different times under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. They use the Old Testament for meditation and instruction, as a schoolmaster bringing the faithful to Christ.

Many Disciples believe, however, that the Old Testament represents two dispensations—one for the patriarchal age before Moses, the other for the age from Moses to the resurrection of Jesus. These accept the New Testament as a third and purely Christian dispensation, for the guidance of Christian churches and peoples.

In common with other Christian bodies, the Disciples have their fundamentalists and their liberals. The literalists, or fundamentalists, accept every word of the authorized version of the Bible as the infallible word of God. The liberals believe that newer translations, and the studies of inspired scholars, have thrown new light upon many passages of the Scriptures. There is nothing to prevent liberals and literalists from sitting down together around the toble of the Lord's Supper, each responsible for his own beliefs and each serving God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

Do Disciples believe in the Holy Trinity?

The Disciples have had little trouble in discarding most of the dogmas which sprang up between the first century and the 19th. Hence, speculation about the Holy Trinity has bothered them little or not at all. They baptize in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit, as Christ commanded. They believe that the Holy Spirit is the comforter promised in the New Testament, but they do not worry over its constitution or the nature of its operations. They accept its guidance as constantly enlarging the horizons of Christian thoughts. They are not concerned about such matters as original sin and predestination.

Whom do the Disciples baptize?

They baptize only those adult old enough to know what they are doing. They baptize by immersion, believing it to have been the New Testament way—an act of obedience and surrender, a symbol of the death, burial and resurrection of the Lord Jesus.

Tomorrow: Do the Disciples of Christ believe in the Virgin Birth? What do they believe about sin and salvation? Do they believe in heaven and hell? What are their views on divorce and birth control? Are the Disciples of Christ, Christian Church and Churches of Christ all the same?

Man Is Acquitted Of Arson Charge

The state claimed the Negro, Eugene Alfred Mabry of 280 Chestnut St., NW, had set the Chestnut street residence afire by placing an electric hot plate against a wooden wall. Mabry denied this.

Defense witnesses included an electrician who said electrical circuits in the house were overloaded and the fire could have resulted from this. The fire occurred last Aug. 31.

A New York University study indicates that human behavior is responsible for 70 to 80 per cent of industrial accidents.

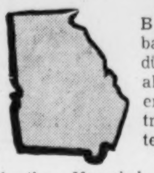
Court Told Preacher Led Kin to Hunter's Body

By JIMMY WALKER
Constitution Staff Writer

The state opened its murder case against the Rev. Carl Brewer at Blairsville Wednesday with testimony that the Baptist preacher tried to avoid suspicion of shooting Alvin Towe while on a deer tracking trip.

Towe, father of eight children, was fatally shot Nov. 5 near Skeener's Gap in Union County.



The Rev. Mr. Brewer, who baptized and conducted the funeral for the farmer, is now on trial for the latter's death.

The dead man's brother, Herschel, a mail carrier, said Brewer took him to the scene and that he found Towe with blood and leaves on his face. The preacher had said Towe was not dead when he stopped the mail carrier, Herschel testified.

Later, the preacher pulled three red shells out of his coat and said: "These are the shells me and Alvin were shooting. Alvin was shot with a green shell," Herschel said.

He quoted the preacher as saying the only time he fired his shotgun was at a squirrel.

Brewer claimed that he was down the road about a quarter of a mile from where he found the body and said he heard two shots but did not investigate for 15 or 20 minutes.

Another witness, Union County Deputy Johnny Nelson, said the preacher asked him the next day if five Tennessee men picked up for questioning had "confessed" anything.

When he said no, the deputy related, Brewer remarked that whoever committed the crime ought to be punished for it.

Deputy W. C. Boling, another investigating officer, said Brewer told him he found Towe lying with his head down the hill, that he turned him uphill and placed leaves under his head.

Georgia Truck Driver Collapses Following 822-Mile Non-Stop Trip

MILWAUKEE, April 6 (AP)—Bob E. Shirley, 49, of Barnesville, Ga., collapsed and died Wednesday just after arriving at his Milwaukee destination with a 27,000-pound truckload of frozen chickens.

His partner, Henry Maddox of Andalusia, Ala., said he had driven 822 miles nonstop from Atlanta.

Seek Survey On Parking

The East Point Parking Authority, which eventually will control properties worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, sought city aid Wednesday to start its ambitious program.

Cooper Smith, chairman of the legislature-created body which plans to boost East Point parking facilities by 50 per cent within a year, has asked city council for $2,000 for an initial survey.

The survey is required before revenue anticipation certificates providing working capital can be issued. The authority will retire the certificates over a period of years with proceeds from the city's 400 parking meters.

Smith said three business district sites are under consideration for purchase or lease for establishment of black-topped, off-street parking lots equipped with some 200 additional meters.

Street Bumps To Slow Speeders Asked by Parent in Hapeville

A Hapeville resident Tuesday offered his City Council a "pat" solution to the problem of protecting his and other children from speeding motorists.

J. C. Lamb Jr., of 3275 Russell St., speaking with no hint of humor, asked installation of a bump-type speed break to be made by laying a two-by-six plank across the street and covering it with asphalt. Similar breaks are used on private roads near schools.

"We might break a few springs," Lamb said, "but we'll also break motorists of going faster than the 15-mile speed limit."

A slightly bemused Council, entirely sympathetic but lacking authority for such a project on a public thoroughfare, agreed to install signs warning drivers to watch for children.

Why Look at Life Blindfolded?

It's hitting close to home when we realize we've been looking at life blindfolded. Yet, that's exactly what we do when we "muff" the opportunity to save 10% of our income. In all honesty, it isn't can we save but will we save. The choice, the life, the opportunity is yours. Can you see it? Why not act on it tomorrow at the ATLANTA FEDERAL nearest you!

DOGGY YAWN—WASHINGTON, April 6—Vice President Nixon leans over to pet Norma Farrar's guide dog, Patty, and gets a yawn in return during an "open house" in his office today. Miss Farrar, who is blind, was one of more than 1,400 tourists who dropped by the Vice President's office today.

4 Are Added To WOTY '55 Board

Four new members of the board of directors of Atlanta's Woman of the Year organization for 1955 were announced Wednesday.

They are Mrs. Mills B. Lane Jr., Mrs. C. Baxter Jones Jr., Mrs. James D. Robinson Jr. and Mrs. James M. Sibley. Mrs. Lane is Atlanta's Woman of the Year for 1954.

Mrs. A. D. Adair Jr. is chairman of the WOTY executive committee, and Mrs. Richard P. Smith is co-chairman. Mrs. J. Wallace Carpenter, Mrs. Alvin Barge and Mrs. Edward Van Winkler also serve on the executive committee.

Other members of the board include: Mrs. Robert F. Adamson, Mrs. Harold N. Cooledge, Mrs. Donald Hastings, Mrs. John S. Knox, Mrs. Charles T. Pottinger, Mrs. Glenn D. Ryman, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton and Mrs. Edward K. Van Winkle.

New members of the board and past sponsors of the Woman of the Year were honored at a reception Wednesday at the Piedmont Driving Club. Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s Georgia Division, headed by Dan Haughton, vice president and general manager, is 1955 sponsor of the Woman of the Year selection.

The board will attend a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p.m. Friday at the Capital City Club to select the men who will serve as chairmen of the awards committees this year. Six all-male committees will name Woman of the Year in six fields of endeavor at the end of this year, and one of these will be chosen for the top honor.

Newspapers' Trucks Earn Safety Honor

The Atlanta Journal and the The Constitution operated the safest fleet of any concern in Atlanta traveling over 100,000 miles per month during January, the Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council said Wednesday.

During the month—the first in which such records were computed—drivers for the Atlanta newspapers had only 0.56 accidents for each 100,000 miles.

In the 50,000 to 100,000 miles per month class, the fleet of Southern Dairies, Inc., traveled furthest without a single accident. Dixie Highway Express, the Gulf Oil Corp., and Georgia Highway Express, Inc., also had no accidents for the period.

Atlanta Linen Service, Dodd Distributing Co. And Gordon Foods, Inc., had no accidents in the 20,000 to 50,000-mile class, the safety council said.

In the 10,000 to 20,000 mile class General Foods, sales division, Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., Miller Motor Express Co., Scott Paper Co., Atlanta-Macon Motor Express, Inc., Wholsesale Tire Supply Co., Gerber Products Co., American Oil Co., and Sinclair Refining Co. were listed with no accidents.

For fleets traveling less than 10,000 miles per month no accidents were reported for Southern States Iron Roofing Co., R. H. Service, the City Traffic Engi- Hagg & Co., Lullaby Diaper Service, the City Traffic Engineering Department, Cherry Transfer and Storage Co., Southeastern Freight Lines and the H. W. Lay and Co.

The entire group average was 2.53 accidents per 100,000 miles of travel.

Forest Park Vote Saturday on Pool

Forest Park voters Saturday will decide whether the community will get a $50,000 swimming pool and a $10,000 city hall addition for fire department use.

The separate bond elections will be held from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the city hall, T. J. Elliott, city clerk said Wednesday.

If the measures are approved, construction will begin immediately, Elliott said. The pool will be located in the city park.

Final election plans were discussed at a city council meeting Monday at which plats for three new subdivisions which will add 206 new homes to the town were approved.

and timing began at 8:35 a.m. as teller Henry Bardenhagen, 24, left his home about 16 blocks from the bank. He was stepping into his car when a man appeared with a gun and quietly ordered:

"Okay, Henry, get in back."

Two other men closed in and the trio of gunmen got into the car with the teller. The first man, the apparent leader, drove.

At the bank, the driver stepped from the car and spotted Manager William Downing, chatting on the sidewalk with a business acquaintance.

By order of the gunmen, Bardenhagen called Downing over. The manager was confronted with a gun. The two bank employes were forced to unlock the front door.

Half a dozen employes already had arrived, each one locking the door after entering. All were herded to the rear of the bank and newly arriving employes were forced at gunpoint to join them. Eventually, there were 11 employes under the guns of the bandits.

The holdup men helped themselves to bundles of cash resting on a dolly—a small, four-wheeled flatcar. It had been taken from the vault minutes before.

The gunmen carried the loot to their waiting car. With a final admonition to the bank employes not to sound an alarm, the quartet roared away.

Kentucky. Its 1954 sales amounted to nearly 90 million dollars.

Three Albers directors, C. B. Amann, Dr. J. H. Dornheggen and A. J. Long, would be added to the board of the combined company.

Russell B. Stearns of Boston would continue as chairman of the board, and Joseph Seitz of Atlanta would continue as president. All other present officers of Colonial would continue in their respective positions.

A. J. Long of Cincinnati, president of Albers, would become senior vice president, and C. B. Amann, vice president of Albers, would remain in the same capacity in the merged organization.

Colonial now has 6,088 stockholders and 812,241 shares of common stock outstanding. Common stock dividends rose to a new high of $2 a share last year.

Legislators See July Tax Session

The leaders have heard multi-million-dollar requests from the four major state agencies. They expressed doubt that the Legislature will try to raise more than $30,000,000 in additional revenue. Some believed rising state tax collections will add another $10,000,000, and that $5,000,000 can be obtained through economy in state government. This would give the administration an additional $45,000,000.

The legislators generally felt that tax bills could be passed easier in July than next January. Next year is election time for the legislators.

None of the legislators proposed new taxes. All wanted to wait until the study commission completed its work. They also want a signal from the governor.

MORE SPECULATION

House Speaker Marvin Moate of Hancock County and Rep. Colbert Hawkins of Screven, both said a special session appears imminent.

Senate Floor Leader Howard Overby of Gainesville thought the odds were against the session, but he wavered after the governor's announcement on teachers.

Rep. Edgar Blalock of Clayton County, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, anticipated new taxes either in July or January.

Lt.-Gov. Ernest Vandiver declined to make a prediction on a special session or taxes, stating the decision is up to the governor.

Vandiver, Overby and Hawkins all opposed increasing the sales tax. Moate listed the sales tax raise as a possible revenue source.

COVERS MAJOR AGENCIES

Moate, Hawkins and Overby said the Legislature probably wouldn't provide more than $30,000,000 additional revenue if it enacts new taxes. This would be divided among the four major agencies, whose requests for additional funds total approximately $110,000,000.

Gov. Griffin told the local school systems to disregard the State Department of Education's query as to whether they could cut salaries of teachers or the number of teachers by 16 2-3 per cent. He said neither he nor the study commission had discussed such a thing.

The governor pledged to provide every teacher needed. The education department said 1,500 additional teachers will be needed next year.

NONESSENTIAL CUTS

Griffin said he would get some of the money for teachers by cutting nonessentials in the education department. He said savings could be made in supervision, transportation and textbooks.

State School Supt. M. D. Collins said the local school systems will be glad to hear they can hire the necessary teachers. He said the question of a possible 16⅔ per cent cut in funds arose from the fact that the state's surplus money is giving out. When the surplus is gone, the school budget would be cut by $15,000,000, unless the administration put up additional funds, Collins said.

Even as Griffin was discounting the Department of Education's questionnaire, a similar query was in the mail for presidents of the local units of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Jim Cherry, DeKalb County school superintendent and chairman of the education committee of the state PTA, sent out the query. He expressed fear that the Minimum Foundation Program will be cut—"and no attempt will be made to finance the Adequate Foundation Program." Cherry asked the PTA members to contact their legislators and let them know "what you desire for your local school program."

The new Prime Minister did not announce any Cabinet changes today. Since Sir Anthony does not wish to bear the double burden of Prime Minister and foreign secretary, authoritative sources expect that changes arising from his appointment will be announced tomorrow when the House of Commons adjourns for the Easter recess.

Harold MacMillan, present minister fo defense, is believed to be the choice for Sir Anthony's post at the Foreign Office. The identity of MacMillan's successor is less certain. Selwyn Lloyd, present minister of supply; Antony Head, secretary of state for war, and Nigel Birch, minister of works, all have been mentioned as possible choices.

ELECTION IS TASK

Sir Anthony's second immediate task is to prepare the Conservative party for a general parliamentary election. Bolstered by the pledge of Conservative members of Parliament of "complete confidence, loyalty and support," Sir Anthony is expected by Conservative members to set May 26 as the date for the election.

An early election may entail early reconstructions of the government. There is a probability therefore that changes in ministries will go beyond those arising from Sir Anthony's appointment and that the Conservatives will freshen their government appeal by appointing some of the younger men.

INFLUENCE FOR SALISBURY

Differences between the Eden and Churchill governments have been illustrated already in discussions about the new cabinet and date of the election. Within restrictions of the British cabinet system Sir Winston by virtue of his experience and indispensability exercised almost dictatorial power. In the new cabinet, at the outset at least, Sir Anthony will be the first among equals. Richard A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer; MacMillan and the Marquess of Salisbury, lord president of the council, will have a larger share in the making of national policy.

Sir Winston in a letter to the chairman of his party revealed that his age was the motivating factor behind his retirement. Discussing the coming general election Sir Winston wrote:

"I have not felt that at my age it would be right for me to incur such new and indefenite responsibilities" arising from general election and that it was "in the public interest" for Eden to take over as Prime Minister a reasonable time before the ballot.

Praising Sir Anthony's "long distinguished service" Sir Winston predicted the new prime minister will "sustain the highest interest and traditions of Britain and uphold the causes of Tory Democracy which Lord Beaconsfield (Disraeli) proclamed, which Lord Randolph Churchill (Sir Winston's father) revived and which I have tried to serve."

This generous tribute to his successor set the tone for speeches welcoming Sir Anthony in commons this afternoon. But Sir Winston's departure from the government front bench leaves a gap, and it is understandable that most of the speakers—Labor, Conservative and Liberal—dwelt longer on his past than on Sir Anthony's future.

Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition, described Sir Winston as "one of the greatest of all prime ministers," one "whose speeches have added luster to our debates."

NOTHING LEFT—WICHITA, Kan., April 6—Mrs. Blondealla Wert, 55, of Wichita, Wednesday was recovering from her 38th surgical operation. She believes it will be her last, because, "I don't know what else they could take." The operations, spanning 22 years, were performed in five cities and 14 hospitals.

Thurmond Denies Party Split in S.C. Dinner Date Conflict

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) said today there is no Democratic party split involved in two testimonial dinners arranged for April 16.

One dinner will be held here for House Speaker Rayburn of Texas and the other in Aiken, S. C., for former Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Thurmond, elected in a write-in campaign with Byrnes' support, said the dinner scheduled for Byrnes "hasn't got a thing to do with politics at all."

President Eisenhower, supported by Byrnes in the 1952 election, was reported to have turned down an invitation to the Byrnes dinner. The President will be vacationing then at Augusta, Ga., 16 miles distant, but it was explained he has a policy of not leaving the Little White House except to go to church.

The Democratic National Committee has invited Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, former President Truman and others to the Rayburn dinner. Some Democrats had feared Eisenhower might attend the Byrnes dinner and blanket publicity about their own.

Thurmond, who carried four Southern states as a States Rights candidate against Truman in 1948, said he was sorry about the conflict in dates. He said he had tried unsuccessfully to get the Aiken dinner changed.

"A lot of Gov. Byrnes' friends have wanted to give him a testimonial dinner and Aiken was selected as the site because it is his old home town," Thurmond said. "The Byrnes dinner hasn't got a thing to do with politics at all. Rufus Gosnell, who is arranging it, is a businessman.

"When I heard about the Rayburn dinner, I suggested a change in dates. But the committee arranging the Aiken dinner thought things had gone along too far and they couldn't change it."

Both Parties Cheer Vote In Chicago

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Democratic and Republican party chairmen reacted differently today to yesterday's Chicago mayoral election in which Democrat Richard J. Daley was victorious over Republican Robert E. Merriam by 127,199 votes.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler hailed the Chicago result, along with Democratic victories in Michigan and in some widely scattered local elections, as support for a belief "that a great Democratic victory is in the making for 1956."

SHOW GOP STRENGTH

Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman, said the margin of Democratic victory in Chicago showed the Republicans strengthened their position there. He said the returns from Michigan's election for eight offices Monday are "still incomplete and await further clarification."

Meanwhile, Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) commented that the Chicago victory of Daley strengthens the position of Adlai E. Stevenson, former Illinois governor, as the probable Democratic presidential nominee next year.

Sparkman, Stevenson's 1952 vice presidential running mate, noted that Stevenson had spoken for Daley before the election. Earlier, Sparkman and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said in separate interviews that Stevenson in a shoo-in for the presidential nomination in 1956.

Butler in a statement said in Michigan Democrats have made their best showing in many years in a spring election.

While some of the Michigan races are still in doubt, Butler added, "there is no question of the Democratic resurgence."

BUTLER PRAISES WINS

Butler also spoke of Democratic victories in municipal elections in St. Louis, West Hartford, Conn., and Tucson, Ariz. He said yesterday's gains were foreshadowed by Democratic victories earlier this year in other local elections and by increased Democratic registrations.

Hall said in his statement that the Chicago election indicates the Republican party has "strengthened its position as compared with last November."

"In that traditionally Democratic stronghold," he said, "the Republican candidate, Robert E. Merriam, ran a hard-hitting race. He lost by 127,199, but this is a big improvement over last November's election when the strongest man on our ticket lost by a margin of 317,428. The GOP also made gains in the ward elections."

Democrats Lead In 5 Michigan Races; GOP, 3

DETROIT, April 6 (AP)—Late, see-sawing unofficial returns from Monday's Michigan spring election today put Democrats ahead in five races and Republicans in three. Only two of 4,783 precincts are still out.

The GOP was sure of only one victory. Its margins were so thin in two races that Democrats conceded nothing.

Contests were so close that only official canvass or recount figures can name winners.

The margins in some were only 2,000 or even fewer votes in the million votes cast.

Republicans seemed certain only of victory for one Supreme Court seat. They led only slightly for superintendent of public instruction, and for a state board of education post.

Jurisdictional Strikes Banned

TOPEKA, Kan., April 6 (AP)—A new labor-management relations law for Kansas was signed today by Gov. Fred Hall.

The governor, who vetoed a "right to work" bill said the new law "is a step in the right direction to solve any labor-management difficulties in Kansas."

The measure outlaws jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. It allows "all union" agreements if such agreements are approved on a secret vote by a majority of the workers to be covered.

Health Asks Increase of $5 Million

The State Health Department says it needs an additional $5,303,000 next fiscal year.

Officials Wednesday told the State Programs Study Commission that this amount of money will be necessary to activate the Eugene Talmadge Memorial Hospital at Augusta and to make state health services available to all sections of Georgia.

Of the amount needed, $3,800,000 would go to the new hospital now under construction. The other $1,503,000 would be used to establish 38 health districts to spread health services more efficiently.

Dr. T. F. Sellers, state health commissioner, told the commission that no reduction could be made in the Health Department's appropriation without reducing health protection.

Dr. Sellers and other department officials said the department already has reduced its spending by 12 per cent. Its state funds were cut six per cent and its federal money was reduced six per cent, they said. The department's present budget is $11,817,380 in state funds and $4,088,417 in federal funds.

The study commission will hear from four departments next Wednesday. They are the Department of Commerce, the Parks Department, the Game and Fish Commission, and the Public Safety Department.

Jewish Fete Of Passover Marked Here

The ancient Jewish celebration of the Passover began in Atlanta synagogues and homes at sundown Wednesday.

Throughout the Jewish community homes were spotlessly cleaned, children donned new clothes and families gathered to celebrate the springtime "Festival of Freedom," one of the most joyous and sacred in the Jewish calendar.

MARKS FREEDOM

Commemorating the time thousands of years ago when the Jews left the land of Egypt, where they had been slaves, and began their life as a free people, the observance centers in churches and in homes.

All Atlanta synagogues had special services Wednesday night, preceding family and public "Sedar" suppers where the unleavened bread and bitter herbs were eaten in memory of the original Passover fare.

At the Temple Rabbi Jacob Rothschild conducted a congregational Sedar. Another service will be held there at 11 a.m. Thursday with a congregational service scheduled at The Temple for Beth El Congregation Thursday night.

SERVICES PLANNED

Ahavath Achim Congregation will hold services at 8:45 a.m., 10:15 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. Thursday and at 8:45 a.m. and 10:15 p.m. Friday. Services will be held at both the synagogue and the educational building.

Services at Beth Jacob will be held at 8:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. both Thursday and Friday. Dr. Ve Shalom has services scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. Friday.

Thursday and Friday services will be held at Shearith Israel Congregation at 8:45 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. each day.

Emory To Host Town Hall's Asia Quartet

Four members of the Town Hall-sponsored "Near East-Asia Mission" will visit Atlanta and Emory University April 22-23.

Togasaki

The visitors will include Mrs. Amina Eli-Said, Arab journalist and editor of Egypt's leading women's magazine, The New Eve; George K. Togasaki, president of The Nippon Times, Japan's leading English-language daily newspaper; Rasim Cenani, Istanbul lawyer and teacher; and George Haddad, professor of history at Syrian University, Damascus.

Hosts to the travelers in Atlanta will be the Emory Institute of Citizenship, acting for the Foreign Policy Assn.

How To Hold

FALSE TEETH

More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

U.S. To Fight for Quemoy, Davis Says

Rep. James C. Davis believes President Eisenhower will order American air and naval forces into battle for Quemoy and Matsu if the Red Chinese attack those islands.

However, Davis does not believe such an attack is imminent and does not think the world is on the brink of war in the Far East.

The congressman, home for the Easter Holidays, emphasized that his opinion about the probable use of American forces in such a fight is purely a personal estimate.

"Of course, the decision will have to be made by the President," Davis said. But he added that from the signs he has seen and heard in Washington, he believes that Chiang Kai-shek would fight to keep Quemoy and Matsu and that the President "will order our forces in then."

Davis predicted that when Congress re-convenes a compromise bill will be worked out to give postal employes about an 8.2 per cent pay increase and that a bill to give other federal workers a pay raise "will follow the same pattern."

Cowboys on TV Wouldn't Do It Thataway

Bang! Bang! You're dead!

William Hemphill, 20, Negro, wasn't exactly dead. But he did end up in the hospital, in jail and eventually in Municipal Court.

Hemphill told Municipal Judge James Webb he watched a rip-roaring movie on television. He said the cowboys killed everyone in sight and then faded out twirling their six guns.

What they could do, William asserted, he could do.

So he obtained a pistol and twirled the gun just as the cowboys had done. Then he tried a fast draw.

Blam! The gun fired, striking William in the left elbow, breaking his arm.

The only trouble was that Detective Mike Johnson was skeptical. He pointed out it would be difficult for a person to wound himself where William had been shot.

Webb agreed. However, he pointed out that William was the injured party and if he was satisfied to leave things that way the court would accept it. He assessed a 60-day sentence on charges of discharging firearms in the city and suspended it.

Dickert To Receive Honorary DS Degree

Herman A. Dickert, director of the A. French Textile School of Georgia Tech, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Science at the June commencement of Newberry College.

Dickert graduated from the South Carolina school in 1923. He received a master's degree from the University of North Carolina in 1925.

Prior to accepting his position with Georgia Tech, he worked as rayon technician with E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Inc.

TV Poll Tags Eddie Fisher 'Most-Looked At' in March

Eddie Fisher, star of "Coke Time," was the "most looked-at" singer on television during March, Videodex reported Wednesday.

The TV rating service reported the mellow-voiced baritone, seen by Atlantans on WSB-TV's Channel 2 (NBC-TV), reached an average of 4,499,000 homes on his Wednesday and Friday telecasts last month. The Friday show was most popular, with a rating of 5,642,000 homes.

Eddie Fisher

Fisher outdistanced Dinah Shore, Jo Stafford, Perry Como and Jane Froman in that order.

Personable Eddie, whose engagement to pretty movie starlet Debbie Reynolds has fans over the country starry-eyed, has another big event ahead.

Fisher will make a command performance before Queen Elizabeth next Wednesday during the period he is to play at the famous London Palladium.

The singer will miss his regular "Coke Time" TV show April 15. Gordon McRae, film star and singing host of NBC's "Comedy Hour," will substitute for Eddie on that date. June Hutton, recording songstress, will share the spotlight.

VETERAN STARS RETURN—Two long-time favorite stars of Hollywood and television will appear on separate networks in TV dramas Thursday night. Sylvia Sidney, left, will take the leading role in "Deception," which will be presented on the Ford Theater at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 2 (NBC-TV). Claudette Colbert, right, stars in "Private Worlds," which will be presented on Climax at 8:30 p.m. on Channel 5 (CBS-TV).

Television and Radio Highlights

Exclusive on-the-spot reports on the progress of the 19th Masters golf tournament will come from the Augusta National Golf Club. Lindsey Nelson is commentator. WSB-Radio at 3:05 p.m.

Bob Hope Rates an Oscar For Award Emceeing Job

NEW YORK, April 6—Dear Boss: They should have given Bob Hope a special Academy Award for his handling of the Oscar Gala. This easily was the greatest display of individual brilliance that TV audiences ever enjoyed. . . .

Split-Week Dept.: Judith Anderson jumping from C. B. de Mille's "The Ten Commandments" in Egypt to Paris for Guthrie McClintic's production of "Media" in the "Salute to Paris" ANTA opener, June 14.

Gene Tierney's friends worried about her health. . . . Nick Eden, son of Anthony Eden, squiring New Yorker Kate Margold around London. . . . Henry Miller's Theatre, housing "Witness for the Prosecution," celebrated its 37th birthday last night. Longest run at the Miller was "The Moon Is Blue," 924 performances.

Former national commander of American Legion, Erle Cocke Jr., will wed Madelyn Grotnes in May. . . . Gloria Vanderbilt dating Harold Arlen again. . . . Terry Moore at Manero's with Bob Evans. . . . John ("Teahouse") Forsythe's pretty wife, Julie Warren, returning to stage, now that their two small daughters, Brooke and Page, are launched.

Gary Crosby's newest is Barbara Drake. . . . Pittsburgh Courier editor Al Dunmore and Jo Thompson will wed April 30. . . . Gene Austin here to sign for his film biog.

TV Tennyson Makes Debut

The grandniece of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, is "original" author of a teleplay to be presented on Channel 11 (ABC-TV) at 9 p.m. Thursday.

Fryniwyd Tennyson Jesse wrote "Treasure Trove," from which the TV play was adapted. Pat Sully stars in this contemporary version of a Biblical story, in which an unhappy wife seeks revenge for a loveless marriage.

INSTRUCTIONS
When you attach this award to the windshield or rear window of your car it will serve as a reminder to you, and all motorists who see it, that you have made a contribution to safer driving on our streets and highways. As a safe driver—your automobile insurance rates have been reduced 20% in advance over rates charged by most companies. We ask you to set an example for others by continuing to follow these simple rules when driving your car:—
1. Stay under the speed limit—never over it.
2. Come to full stop at stop signs.
3. Traffic lights protect you—obey them.
4. Protect the pedestrian—give them a brake.
5. Refuse to mix drinks with driving.
6. Use proper signals when turning or stopping.
7. Courtesy is contagious—especially in automobiles.
8. Observe the Golden Rule of Driving:—
"DRIVE BEFORE OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DRIVE FOR YOU"

Job Total Up 500,000 In a Month

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Employment rose over the nation by a half million in March. Unemployment declined 200,000.

Job gains represented definite improvement over last spring, when the number out of work reached a peak for the year. This was true even though the gains were largely seasonal, the usual result of better weather conditions.

Factory employment rose 160,000 in March, and there were increases in such outdoor activities as farming and construction.

60 MILLION AT WORK

The regular monthly report of the Commerce and Labor departments put March employment at 60,477,000, up 539,000 from February. There were 60,100,000 employed in March a year ago.

Unemployment was 3,176,000, down 207,000 from February and 549,000 below the 3,725,000 in March 1954, which set a high for the year.

Employment increased more than unemployment declined, the government said, because of the number of farm women and young persons joining the labor force.

WORK HOURS LONGER

Working hours rose. The factory work week was calculated at 40.7 hours, or 1.2 hours higher than in March last year. Factory worker earnings climbed to record levels of $1.85 an hour and $75.30 a week. This was due both to higher pay rates and the longer hours.

The government report said that while unemployment is down more than half a million since last year, the rate of new employment has dropped fro m300,000 to 200,000 a week. At the same time, however, the number of long-term jobless—those idle for 15 weeks or longer—is still the same as last year at about one million.

UAW Starts Wage Pledge Talks Today

DETROIT, April 6 (AP)—New labor contract negotiations in the automobile industry open formally tomorrow with a guaranteed annual wage as the No. 1 issue.

For the first time in five years, General Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers sit down together to talk contract terms.

Next Tuesday, the union and Ford will do likewise, again with GAW as the big issue.

Affected by the ultimate results will be half a million GM and Ford workers.

MAY SET PATTERN

Approximately another million auto industry workers eventually also may be affected—if a "pattern" for the industry is set in Ford and GM—also untold thousands in other industries linked to autos.

Both Ford and GM have held preliminary talks with CIO President Walter Reuther's auto workers. These were described as mostly exploratory, however, for the purpose of programming future talks.

On the eve of the formal negotiations, neither the UAW nor management added to previous statements about GAW.

COMPANIES OPPOSED

Both GM and Ford have indicated opposition. At the same time the union has said it would be willing to listen to any proposition which would protect the "principle" of GAW. Reuther has said the union won't budge from that.

This will be the first time since 1950 the union and management have talked full contracts. In 1950 they drew up the historic five-year agreements. GM's expires May 29, Ford's June 1.

'THIS AIN'T NO WAY TO DO'

Mother Marches Boy Escapee Back to Jail

DYERSBURG, Tenn., April 6 (AP)—Jailer Frank Gregory sleepily answered the door early today, and there stood young James Beard, firm in the grip of his mother.

That struck Gregory as mighty unusual. He investigated. Sure enough, five of his prisoners had battered through the jail wall under cover of a noisy thunderstorm. Beard was one of them.

The escapees scattered like a covey of quail after sliding down a blanket rope from the second floor. Beard, 19, went home. His flight ended right there. "You know this ain't no way to do," his mother told him and marched him back to jail.

Another of the five Negro escapees, J. W. Pearson, was nabbed near here today. Still at large are W. B. Turner and J. C. Trent, both charged with forgery, and Charles Smith, convicted of larceny.

Beard was convicted of shoplifting.

Gregory said the men, using a window weight, a teaspoon and a hinge from a folding bunk, broke off a rusty steel plate used to patch a hole cut through the wall in another breakout years ago.

The old jail has been condemned many times as unfit for occupancy, but still is the only jail in town.

Negro Is Named a Kentucky Colonel; Led Masonic Lodge Bookmobile Drive

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 6 (AP)—George Ray Jr., Louisville Negro civic leader, has been named an aide on the governor's staff with the rank of a Kentucky colonel.

Asked if Ray were the first Negro to be named a colonel, Gov. Lawrence Wetherby said today he doesn't think so but that his office is checking on that. Another official said Ray might be the first member of his race to get such a commission.

An executive order dated March 24 and signed by Wetherby, on file in the secretary of state's office, designated Ray as a colonel.

"Few people, especially those of the medical profession, favor socialized medicine but it may become a function of government similar to social security and old-age benefits."—Editorial quote.

"You never miss the water till . . . the well goes dry" and you can't fill . . . the bucket with a cooling drink . . . and there are other things, I think . . . just as important which we take . . . for granted until we awake . . . and find some of the things are gone . . . we formerly depended on.

It may surprise you, there are few . . . physicians who will visit you . . . some of the older ones will come . . . but, of the young ones, there are some . . . who think a person who is ill . . . should only stay in bed until . . . he has sufficient strength to crawl . . . down town to make an office call.

The oath of old Hippocrates . . . means little to such lads as these . . . and some day they may be surprised . . . when "medicine is socialized" . . . and managed by the government . . . and they will go where they are sent.

And so I sing a hymn of praise . . . for mine who, through the foulest days . . . and darkest nights has come to me . . . and members of my family . . . for he and others of his kind . . . are getting mighty hard to find.

WORRY CLINIC

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Girls, Don't Indulge In Masculine Slang

Darleen M., 16, is a very pretty high schooler.

"But she has one very bad habit," her senior boy friend told me.

"Darleen looks very feminine and is quite attractive except for her slang and rough speech.

"I wince whenever I have her around my parents for she gives a very wrong impression of herself.

"She sounds as if she were a tough from the other side of the tracks, but really she is a very nice girl."

BEWARE OF SLANG

Girls must be double careful of their speech, for rough talk has a masculine flavor. It makes a girl sound hard and even immoral.

Many thoughtless girls, however, simply adopt the language of their social crowd. And if girls have grown up in a large family, of brothers, they may unwittingly hamper their social charm by imitating the language of those brothers.

"Bill got married last year and now he has a kid," a boy may say, without violating masculating feeling tone.

But if a girl calls a baby a "kid," that immediately makes her sound tough.

MASCULINE ITEMS

Most girls are ultra sensitive about hair on their chin or fuzz on the upper lip. For they fear such excess hair may look like a mustache and thus make them seem masculine.

But there are many far more masculinizing items. For example, the use of profanity will defiminize a girl faster than a half-mustache on her upper lip.

Whisky likewise has a masculine connotation, so a girl who uses hard liquor violates what advertisers call the proper "feeling tone."

Gambling, use of cigarettes, telling of vulgar stories — all these have a masculine feeling tone.

Whenever a girl is guilty of such things, she violates the feminine mental image that men associate with charming women.

FEELING TONE

"She was a skinny maiden," thus violates the proper literary feeling tone, for "maiden" is a poetical type of phraseology, whereas kid suggests dirty-faced, freckled boys playing sandlot baseball.

You girls who spend so much time and money trying to dress attractively, should realize that the words you speak are the apparel of your mind.

You can ruin an otherwise lovely impression if you clothe your ideas in crude, uncouth or vulgar verbal attire.

Every time you utter a sentence, your basic personality is on parade. And you can repell desirable members of the opposite sex by slangy, vulgar speech which is then simply shoddy apparel for your mind.

Don't grow unduly sophisticated in your speech or try to browbeat your associates by spouting long words they can't understand.

But be sure your language matches your attractive ensemble and make both of them create the right feeling tone.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE VAN DELLEN

Questions Answered

D. F. writes: Will massaging the scalp with olive oil remedy beginning baldness?

Yes, provided hair loss is due to unusual dryness of the scalp. But all the oil in Iran will not correct hereditary baldness or that caused by seborrheic dermatitis (oily dandruff) or ringworm. The same can be said of alopecia areata, or patchy baldness.

T. Y. writes: If one party to a marriage has webbed toes, will the offspring all have the same defect?

Not necessarily, but if the right set of genes gets together, some of the children are likely to inherit webbed toes.

C. P. writes: Can a cold be caught from a cat?

No, because only man and monkeys can transmit the cold virus.

F. W. writes: What would you suggest for tired feet?

During the day, elevate the feet during your coffee break or whenever possible. When you come home from work, sit in an easy chair with the feet placed on a hassock. Soak the feet in warm water before going to bed. Anyone who stands most of the day ought to wear good shoes that offer real support. If these measures give no relief, ask your physician to examine your lower extremities to see if any abnormality exists.

N. Z. writes: Will operation on a detached retina restore vision?

Yes, provided the tear, or detachment, can be closed.

J. W. writes: Could infected tonsils cause an adult to feel tired and rundown?

Yes, but blaming fatigue on focal infections of this type is not as common today as formerly.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of diamonds.

In the recent master's tournament in New York the scoring of an extra trick in a slam contract had an important bearing on the determination of the eventual winner.

The final contract of six hearts was sound enough. North's two-spade bid was based on somewhat less high card strength than one normally finds in a jump shift. On the next round North properly rebid the spades looking upon his holding as essentially a spade hand, rather than a heart hand; but after South's three no trump rebid, he decided to show support for his partner's rebid heart suit. South was justified in contracting for slam, having distinctly more than a minimum.

West, for his lead, made the unhappy choice of a diamond. A spade opening would have settled the issue at once, but having five trumps West was disinclined to open a singleton. After the opening lead it looked like smooth sailing. Nevertheless, declarer decided to test out the trump suit and got the bad news. His first play, of course, was the queen of clubs which East took. East, following the line of least resistance, returned a diamond and declarer's work was done. He extracted trumps and discarded the losing club and diamond on dummy's top spades.

East's defense had lacked inspiration. A spade return by him would have broken the contract and was called for under the evidence. That West has more trumps than dummy is quite apparent. Otherwise declarer would have seven trumps which his rebid of three no trump would seem to deny. If declarer has two spades, West is void and will ruff. If declarer has only one spade the dummy will become separated from his own hand and no discards will be available.

East could also have defeated the contract by ducking the queen of clubs, but that would be asking too much.

Strike Wreaks Havoc With a Family's Budget

By BOB SIBLEY

A strike wreaks havoc with the family budget.

Take for instance a Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. worker, who has been out on strike since March 14.

His union, the Communications Workers of America (CIO), provides necessary food and shelter from its multimillion-dollar defense fund.

But Mary's new dress for the school dance and Little Tommy's birthday bicycle will have to wait. And wife Helen will have to do without her new shoes.

NOT COMPLAINING

Husband Tom, a typical union member, dislikes having to leave off the extras for his family, but he believes important principles are involved in the walkout.

"My wife and the children have not complained, even though we have had to make sacrifices," he said. "We don't know how long the strike will last, but we will make it."

CWA's defense fund has been built up by the members, who contribute 50 cents of their $3-per-month dues to the fund.

Union members become eligible for defense fund assistance after they miss a payday. But records show only about half those eligible apply for help.

PART-TIME JOBS

Part-time jobs are the answer for many members.

From the moment a strike starts, the local's job-finding committee is at work. In Atlanta, Mrs. H. L. Fuller spearheads the campaign.

Already, Mrs. Fuller and her committee have found jobs for more than 400 Atlanta Local 3204 members. They hope to place many more.

The Atlantan said the first place she looks for job openings is the Journal-Constitution want ads, since that has been the source of many jobs.

THE YELLOW PAGES

Another excellent source, Mrs. Fuller admitted rather sheepishly, is the yellow pages of the telephone directory.

Many union members worked at other crafts before going to work for Southern Bell, and they have experience to fall back on.

Male workers have taken jobs as carpenters, truck drivers, service station attendants, grocery clerks, radio and television repairmen, tree trimmers and a few ditch diggers.

Many women union members are working as typists, switchboard operators and waitresses, and taking their regular turn on the picket lines.

One Atlanta member, who hopes to complete his education and training as a minister in the near future, has been filling engagements with local churches of his denomination.

SUGGESTS JOB

Mrs. Fuller, Gladys Jacobs

FINDS HUSBAND JOB

Mrs. Fuller has been taking some good-natured ribbing from other union members, since one of the first persons she located a job for was her husband. He usually installs and repairs telephone equipment, but is now putting up wrought iron.

Assistance from the defense fund is based entirely upon need. A member with a family receives more help from the fund than a single person.

Food orders are given to members, who present them to predesignated grocery stores and supermarkets. Payments for shelter, doctors' bills, lunches for school children and similar items are made directly to the firm or person rendering the service.

All members needing assistance are confidentially interviewed and then a study is made.

EMERGENCIES DON'T WAIT

In cases of emergency, a doctor is called and the investigation made later. On the question of food, it takes about 24 hours to process an application.

The cases are investigated only once. From week to week thereafter the striker simply returns for a renewal of the food order.

A kitchen has been set up at the Atlanta local office, 75 Ivy St., with an Atlanta plumber having installed the stove and sink free. This is "strike headquarters."

Character Witness Defines Preaching

CARTHAGE, N.C. (AP)—A character witness in a Moore County Criminal Court case had established himself as a God-fearing man and a senior deacon in his church.

"Don't you sometimes preach, too?" inquired Prosecutor M. G. Boyette.

"No, sir, I don't preach," the witness replied, "but sometimes I exhorts a little."

Water Plan Banks on New Funds

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Plans to issue $4 million worth of Atlanta waterworks revenue certificates in July were announced Wednesday.

Certificates will be issued to finance waterworks improvements and expansions for the year. City fiscal leaders plan to stagger the retirement payments so all will not fall due in the first six months of each year. Tax payments begin to come into the treasury in June, but until that time the city must pay operating expenses from either cash carryovers or water, fine and other collections. Previous issues were made in the early part of the year.

Paul Weir, waterworks manager, meanwhile announced that the department will launch operation "spring cleaning" Monday.

Weir said the first phase of a 30-day job of cleaning and lining 7,200 feet of transmission mains will start then. The project will cost $40,000 and will increase the water flow in the 14th Street-West Peachtree area from five million to 10 million gallons a day.

A two-inch temporary water line has been laid along the route so patrons will have water while the cleaning is under way. Weir added that another cleaning will begin Friday on the 48-inch, four-mile long feeder main extending from the Chattahoochee River to the Hemphill station.

Zoning Opposition

Opposition is expected to be leveled against several of the 10 zoning petitions which will come before the Aldermanic Board zoning committee Thursday.

Protests are anticipated against business zoning for tracts on Campbellton Road, SW, and Myrtle Drive, SW, and on Boulevard Drive and Second Avenue. Opposition is also foreseen against a truck terminal zoning on Jonesboro Road, SE, near McWilliams Road, and a church proposed at Dewberry Lane and DeLowe Drive, SW. Public hearing will be held in City Hall at 2 p.m.

A-Bid for Mayor

Mayor Hartsfield will return Thursday from a trip to Venezuela with two new invitations to consider.

The city's chief executive has been invited to attend the Atlanta Holland Society meeting April 16 and a series of atomic explosions at the AEC proving grounds April 26. Thomas H. Goodman, regional federal Civil Defense administratod, extended the invitation to the bomb tests.

Spain's Arms Experts See Atlanta Plant

The Atlanta firm chrome-plates the inside of cannon barrels. Company president Louis Rosenberg said its production figures are restricted information.

Col. Charles W. Kerwood, Air Force officer who shepherded this section of the 15-man Spanish mission, said members of his group speak little English and get their information through the tour interpreter or "by just observing."

Kerwood, attached to the Foreign Operations Administration that is supervising the mission, talked with the Spaniards in French.

The Spanish army officers, particularly interested in small arms and artillery, inspect the manufacturing of only those weapons that are standard U.S. military equipment, Kerwood said. Weapons that the U.S. still has "under wraps" are not shown the observers, he said.

In the party were Lt. Col. E. G. Gonazlez, Major M. C. Juliani, Major S. R. Roig, Capt. R. R. Fernandez and Lt. A. G. Fernandez.

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce has upheld removal of convicts from Fulton County construction equipment on public roads.

Dr. Paul Seydel reported to the county commissioners Wednesday that the chamber's local affairs committee, after a study, felt prisoners definitely should not be used to operate equipment on public roads.

Convicts were removed from such jobs recently under orders of County Mgr. A. E. Fuller, acting on wishes of the commissioners.

A. T. McDonald, public works director, had maintained that use of prisoners on such jobs served as a rehabilitation measure.

"OUTSTANDING JOB"

Dr. Seydel reported the committee also had been told by J. B. Hatchett, head of the State Board of Corrections, that Fulton County's prison system is doing an outstanding job in prisoner rehabilitation.

He quoted Hatchett as saying the county's Bellwood Public Works Camp is "far advanced" over many in the nation in its prisoner handling methods.

The commissioners delayed until Thursday morning action on selecting architects to plan a new county jail and on returning to James T. Malcolm money he paid to the county in a 1950 timber sale now voided by the courts.

DEEDS TO ATLANTA

The commissioners approved conveyance to the City of Atlanta some 25 to 30 deeds of various tracts of land which the city acquired under the Plan of Improvement.

The commissioners took under advisement a request from a representative of the Atlas Powder Co. to allow the firm to relocate its plant near the county's industrial development.

The representative said development of a Negro subdivision near the present powder plant places it too close to residential areas under standards set by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. He said the firm would have to move.

Claimant Says Trust Misplaced in Prison

TRENTON, N.J., April 6 (AP)—The New Jersey Legislature's subcommittee on claims heard a complaint today that you can't trust some of the people in prison.

A former inmate filed a claim for $84.68 for clothing he said was stolen from his cell while he was in court.

Arrests of people under 18 years old in the United States have increased 430 per cent since 1950.

Garden Clubbers Eye Savannah

By YOLANDE GWIN

Savannah was selected as the 1956 convention city by the Garden Club of Georgia at the concluding session of the 27th annual convention Wednesday at the Biltmore Hotel.

Mrs. Shelby Myrick of Savannah was reelected treasurer and Mrs. Jack D. Carter of Tifton was renamed recording secretary.

SCHOLARSHIP

Bruce Gregory, a sophomore in landscape architecture at the University of Georgia, was announced as first recipient of the Founders Memorial Scholarship.

This scholarship, announced by the Founders Memorial Garden chairman, Dr. Hubert B. Owens of Athens, has resulted from the recommendation of the committee that the state group undertake the Georgia Gardener's Engagement Calendar project and use proceeds for the scholarship.

Mrs. T. J. Smith of McRae, state president, reported that the federation now has 656 clubs and 19,082 members and 14 new clubs.

Topping her convention announcement was the news that the Garden Club of Georgia has acquired a new home in the Founders Memorial Garden in Athens.

HEADQUARTERS

Assurance has been given by University of Georgia authorities that what is now the main classroom and laboratory of the landscape architecture department will be the headquarters when the new Fine Arts building is completed, Mrs. Smith added.

Mrs. Edgar Bullock of Columbus, chairman for junior garden clubs, announced that there are at present 52 junior clubs in the state.

During the past year members of the landscape design committee gave a combined total of 65 programs, reported Mrs. Cuyler A. Trussell of Athens. Special recognition was given the Cochran Garden Club of Cochran and the Junior Ladies Garden Club of Athens, both of which chose "Landscape Design" as the theme for the year.

Mrs. DuPont Kirven of Columbus reported that 13 flower show schools were held the past year, in addition to one reading examination.

In the scrapbook contest the Town and Country Club of Cordele and the Shirley Hills Garden Club of Macon won, with honorable mention going to the Cuthbert Garden Club of Cuthbert.

BROWN THRASHER RIBBON

The LaGrange Lions Club of LaGrange won the Brown Thrasher Ribbon given by the Garden Club of Georgia to a nonaffiliated group which has staged an outstanding flower show.

The Charter Garden Club of West Point, whose 40 members have actively participated in conservation projects in West Point and the valley, was awarded the conservation prize.

Placing second for the red-ribbon award in this class was the Garden Division of the LaGrange Woman's Club, which was cited by the LaGrange club for its part in the restoration of the home and grounds of Benjamin H. Hill.

"My Redbud Tree," by Mrs. John S. Schofield of the Vineville Garden Club of Macon, was awarded the garden poem prize offered each year by Mrs. Oscar McKenzie of Montezuma.

Mrs. Earl Williams of the Charter Garden Club of West Point won second prize for her poem, "Love of a Garden," while third prize for "Garden Tour" was awarded Terry Hitchcock of the Florence Bernd School Junior Garden Club of Macon. The poem was entered by the Shirley Hills Garden Club of Macon.

YEARBOOK AWARD

Junior yearbook awards went to the Azalea Junior Club of Moultrie, the Live Oak Junior Club of McRae and the Rutherford Junior Club of Macon. The Live Oak Junior Club also won the junior scrapbook award.

The Lelia Banks DuPre perpetual radio-TV trophy, awarded by Mrs. R. B. DuPre of Marietta, in memory of Mrs. William A. DuPre, to the state regional chairman of radio-TV submitting the best series of 13 programs, went to Mrs. Lemon Awtry Jr. of Acworth, seventh region chairman.

A Fashion That Lasted 75 Years

A new kind of Easter bonnet story came out in Atlanta this week.

Pretty Maj. Ivy Waterworth, the young Salvation Army officer who edits The Young Soldier, church paper for young Salvationists, wrote it. And Carolyn Carter, the Sunday magazine photographer, illustrated it.

Atlanta is the headquarters for practically any commodity you can mention these days but somehow it surprised me to learn that the little bonnet which has historicaly identified the Salvation Army lassie, is made right here in our midst.

Maj. Waterworth wrote the story of a 14-year-old Atlanta girl, Peggy Trimyer, who longed for her first "Hallelujah Bonnet," symbol in the Salvation Army, of a girl's growing up. She and Carolyn went on a tour of the American Hat Manufacturing Co., where all the bonnets worn by Salvation Army members in the United States are made.

There are pictures of the aluminum and wood blocks, the black straw "shells," made from the finest Milan straw imported from the Shantung Province in China, the varnishing and shaping and the trimming with fine silk and finally the red Salvation Army band.

I was interested in how the distinctive little bonnet started and why it has lasted and I called Maj. Waterworth for more details. It seems that 75 years ago next month Catherine Booth, "Mother of the Army" and wife of Founder William Booth, saw the diversity of hats worn by the first crop of young cadets and cast about for some kind of uniform headgear.

She wanted something, history records, "Cheap, strong and large enough to protect the heads of wearers against cold as well as from brickbats and other missiles." She and her daughter, Emma, with the aid of a milliner, designed the bonnet the women of the Army still wear.

At first, woman-like, the Salvation Army officers were inclined to try to improve on the bonnet with little touches of their own—white ruching inside the brim, for instance, the moment they got out of London. And in 1881, the War Cry carried a stern rebuke for those who tampered with the uniform.

Within the 75 years the "Hallelujah Bonnet" has changed none at all in comparison to other feminine headgear but officers admit that it has probably grown smaller in deference to fickle fashion. It is, however, no longer cheap.

A good bonnet—in modern parlance called "the super bonnet"—costs $19.75. Cheaper ones can be had for $11.95.

But at any price a Salvation Army bonnet is probably a bargain as women's hats go because they never go out of style and they are extremely durable.

Maj. Waterworth told me that she knows women who wear their mother's and grandmother's bonnets and 40 or 50 years' service is nothing to a good bonnet. Fresh silk and chin ribbons now and then keep them good as new.

In recent years the Salvation Army adopted an official gray uniform with a gray felt hat and there is also a blue felt hat that is acceptable. But tradition and sentiment makes most women of the Army cling to the little bonnet.

As an Army scribe wrote: "The Salvation Army bonnet is a symbol, a silent witness of the purpose of the wearer. It proclaims that the wearer is a soldier of Christ, whose business it is to fight all that is against His teachings and whose chief aim is to remind others of Him."

The Golfers Say: Rain, Stay Away

By MARY DENMARK
Constitution Staff Writer

AUGUSTA, April 6—The song in the air around the Masters sounds remarkably like "rain, rain, stay away."

The best of the golfers want to play, and wives, children and spectators by the hundreds are of a mind to see that little white ball go skittering over the course.

The rains Tuesday dampened the grass but not the enthusiasm of golfers and golf fans, and bright golf umbrellas embellished a course noted for its color and colorful characters.

For the final practice sessions Wednesday raingear was stashed, and the rolling hills of the Augusta National Golf Course were dotted with brightly garbed figures.

"EVERYTHING"

What are they wearing this year?

If practice sessions are any indication, the answer is "everything." Among the women you will see gals in shocking pink Bermuda shorts, gingham golf dresses, blazers that blaze with color, and tweed skirts and cashmere sweaters.

The golfers themselves are still rather conservatively dressed during these practice rounds. Doubtless, their traditionally bright attire will make its debut at the opening round of the tournament on Thursday.

COFFEE, CONVERSATION

One such group included Mrs. Lew Worsham, Mrs. Bob Toski, Mrs. Billy Maxwell and Mrs. Denny Shute.

Mrs. Shute, wife of a former PGA and British Open champion, was wearing tweed skirt and blouse topped with a yellow cashmere sweater. She's attended every Masters but one.

TAM O'SHANTER CHAMP

Vivacious red-haired Mrs. Toski looked charming in a plaid maternity jacket with gray skirt and shoes. Married 16 months to the Tam O'Shanter world champion and golf's leading money winner last year, she's attending her second Masters.

Next year, with their young champion, they plan to join the golfers who follow the sun in trailers.

STRIPED SHIRT

Mrs. Worsham, wearing striped shirt with tailored skirt, is attending the tournament with her daughter Lynda and son Rick. Her husband is a former U.S. Open champ. The Worshams are currently en route from their Florida home to their home in Oakmont, Pa.

The wife of the Azalea Open winner, Mrs. Maxwell, chose brown salt - and - pepper cotton tweed for the final practice day outfit. Like the Toskis, the Maxwells are planning to join the trailer crowd next year.

Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Toski both agree that trailer life sounds like fun. "Why, when you arrive and when you leave, the whole community goes with you," Mrs. Maxwell smiled.

Agnes Scott Club To Honor Richard Todd

Richard Todd, who takes the leading role in the movie, "A Man Called Peter," will arrive in Atlanta Friday for a brief visit. The film, which is taken from the book by Catherine Marshall, a former Agnes Scott student, will open Friday at the Fox Theater.

Friday at 4 p.m. Mr. Todd will be honor guest at a tea in the Sky Room of the Dinkler Plaza Hotel, with members of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Assn. and college personnel calling to meet him.

Mrs. Wallace Alston, wife of the Agnes Scott president; Mrs. Joseph Read, president of the Agnes Scott Alumnae Assn.; Mrs. Dixon Fowler, president of the Atlanta branch of Agnes Scott alumnae, and Mrs. Murdock Equen, past president of the alumnae association, will pour tea.

Harry G. Ballance, Southern division manager of Twentieth Century-Fox, will represent his company which made "A Man Called Peter."

Westminster Sets Easter Service

The Junior School at Westminster Schools has planned an Easter service for 9:30 a.m. on Thursday at the auditorium, with the two sixth grades in charge. The Junior School Choir, under the direction of Miss Shirley Haddock, will sing.

The School for Girls and the School for Boys will hold a joint service at the Peachtree Road Methodist Church from 8 to 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, with Vernon Broyles III in charge. The Seven Last Words of Christ will be discussed by Carol Littlejohn, Jane LaMarche, Donna Kickline, Tallulah Reed, Charles Hughes, Linton Hopkins Jr. and Jimmy Long.

The Westminster Glee Club, directed by Walter Herbert, and the Eighth Grade Chorus, under Miss Haddock, will provide music. Soloist will be Mary Lee Nunnally, with Virginia Hutchings as organist.

Pretty Picture Salad A Treat To Serve

Here's a salad combination that's a picture to make and a treat to serve.

A tart French dressing and a touch of onion and curry powder is the final insurance of an unusually good luncheon main dish. Serve with hot rolls, a dessert and beverage.

LIMA SEA FOOD SALAD

2 cups cooked, large, dry limas
⅓ cup tart French dressing
1 tbsp. grated onion
¼ tsp. garlic salt
Pinch curry powder (opt.)
⅛ tsp. paprika
2 tbsps. minced parsley
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 cup cooked crab, shrimp or prawns
Lettuce cups
Mayonnaise

1. Lightly mix the limas, French dressing, onion, garlic salt, curry powder and paprika. 2. Chill for at least 1 hour. 3. Combine with parsley, celery and sea food. 4. Serve in lettuce cups and garnish with mayonnaise. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Mrs. Black Elected by Jr. League

Mrs. David C. Black Jr., who has served as first vice president of the Atlanta Junior League for the past year, automatically became the incoming president at the annual election held at the Piedmont Driving Club. She will take office in June.

Others elected to office were Miss Helen McDuffie, first vice president; Mrs. Strother Fleming Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Hughes Schroder, treasurer; Mrs. Floyd McRae Jr., recording secretary, and Mrs. Philip White, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Schroder was named delegate to attend the annual conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America which meets in May in Sun Valley, Idaho.

Five members were named to the Junior League board. They are Miss Nancy McLarty, Mrs. Batch Miller, Mrs. Rhodes Perdue Jr., Mrs. Clayton Rich and Mrs. Herbert Reynolds Jr.

Numerous Parties Set For Mrs. Maxwell

Numerous parties have been planned for Mrs. Stephens E. Maxwell, who arrives with her children, Elizabeth and Alva, next Wednesday to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Maxwell in the Pallas Apartments. The trio will join Mr. Maxwell in Cincinnati for residence late this month.

The day after her arrival, Mrs. Maxwell will be honor guest at a morning coffee and a tea to be given by her hostess, with 200 guests invited to meet her. On April 16 Mrs. O. S. Maxwell will entertain at bridge and that evening Mrs. C. A. Rhodes and her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Smith, will be cohostesses at a buffet dinner.

Mrs. Hill Robertson will give a bridge-luncheon on April 18 and on April 19 Mrs. M. T. Edgerton and Mrs. Howland Smith will entertain at luncheon. Mrs. J. C. Malone has set her luncheon for Mrs. Maxwell for April 20.

Mrs. Winn T. Craig, Mrs. Will Yon and Mrs. O. H. Kingle will give a morning coffee on April 26 at Mrs. Craig's Vermont road home. Mrs. Julian Jones and Mrs. Hal Morris have planned a luncheon for April 27. Others to honor the visitor include Mrs. W. F. Lozier, Mrs. W. Henry Smith, Mrs. Warren Pollard Jr., Mrs. R. L. Tabor, Mrs. J. W. Speas, Mrs. J. U. Horne and Mrs. Cary Chapman.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER D. TAULMAN have returned to their winter home at Redington Beach, Fla., after a week at the Boca Raton Club and the Columbus Hotel in Miami. They plan to return to Atlanta around the middle of April.

Their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Maguire, and the Maguire children, John, Patrick and Helen, leave Friday to return to their home in Greenwich, Conn., after spending the past two months with the Taulmans.

MISS SUSAN WHITE is recovering from an emergency appendix operation at St. Joseph's Infirmary. She will return Saturday to her home on Peachtree road.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES T. POTTINGER JR. will have as their guests for Easter Mrs. Pottinger's mother, Mrs. Joseph Duvic; her sister, Mrs. Jack Flowers, and the latter's small daughter, Allison, of New Orleans.

A GROUP of North Fulton High School students leaving Thursday to spend the Easter vacation at Daytona Beach are Misses Sarah Leamon, Carol Russ, Karen Davis and Jean Edwards. They will be chaperoned by Miss Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Edwards. Edwin Edwards Jr., a North Fulton senior, will complete the party.

ONE OF THE LAST of the birthday parties honoring the 10th anniversary of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra is the tea to be given at 4 o'clock today by Mrs. William Addams and Mrs. T. C. Davison at the latter's home on Valley road.

Mrs. Rembert Marshall, president of the Woman's Committee of the Symphony Guild, will introduce Henry Sopkin, orchestra director, who will cut the birthday cake. A musical theme will feature the floral decorations.

MR. AND MRS. DUDLEY SHARP JR. and small daughter, Kate Sandford Sharp, left Tuesday after a weekend visit to Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Pottinger of Rivers road en route from Baltimore to Houston, Tex. Mrs. Sharp is the former Kate Schweppe, niece of Mrs. Pottinger.

A HOUSE PARTY of Northside High School juniors leaving for Daytona Beach as soon as classes are over on Thursday includes Misses Mary Ann Claiborne, Carol Jones, Nina Wilkerson, Linda Sims, Imogene Talley, Mary Lynn Plumb and Margaret Bagley. They will be chaperoned by Mrs. William Wilkerson and Mrs. James M. Sims.

GUESTS at the Habersham road home of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Laws are Mrs. Laws' aunt, Mrs. Lowell C. Swim of Modesto, Calif., and the latter's granddaughter, Miss Kitty Donohue of Auburn, Calif.

This evening Dr. and Mrs. Laws will entertain a group of young people at the Driving Club in compliment to Miss Donohue. The visitors were central figures at the luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Herbert Alden at the Driving Club, and at a tea at which their hostess entertained on Tuesday.

MRS. JACK C. FAIRCHILD and her young sons, Ludwell and Clinton, have returned from a two-week visit to Mrs. Fairchild's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ludwell Baldwin, in Norfolk, Va.

GEORGE BACKUS was released on Tuesday from Tallahassee Memorial Hospital, where he recuperated from a recent accident, and has returned to Ft. Myers, Fla. On Thursday Mrs. Backus and their children, Julia, Scotty, Elison and Georgette, will fly to Fort Myers to join him for a 10-day visit.

COL. AND MRS. R. G. Haskell and daughters, Linda and Phyllis, of Falls Church, Va., are expected Thursday for a visit to Col. Haskell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Haskell of 1215 Pasadena Ave., NE.

The visitors are coming especially for the celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell's 47th wedding anniversary on Saturday. Col. Haskell is on Army duty at the Pentagon in Washington.

Too Rigid Diet Leads To Failure

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Trying to half starve in order to reduce on a too rigid diet ALWAYS ends in failure. The body is a working machine and requires repair material as well as fuel. Poor nutrition only makes for weariness.

The longer I write this column, the more convinced I am that the only real solution to the overweight's problem is to learn to EAT to reduce. The scientifically planned diet not only keeps the system running smoothly, but is built around the foods which actively stimulate the body to burn excess fat.

NO SUCCESS?

You overweights who have tried diet after diet with little or no success seem to be unable to accept the fact that you can eat well and lose weight. Perhaps it sounds too good to be true. Or it may be that I do not sufficiently emphasize the absolute certainty of success of scientific eating for weight control.

The facts are these: You do not need to go hungry—you can eat three meals a day, lose two pounds a week and feel wonderfully fit. But let's hear this straight from a courageous reducer from Michigan who has at long last triumphed. She writes:

"For years I went on inadequate diets, and I was either reducing or going back up—and each time I went further up than before. I was completely fagged out after each reducing bout. When I think of all the years of struggling with my weight and of all the other women who try to reduce on faddy diets, it makes me heartsick!

"On January 19, 1954, I started to reduce following your TAKE YOUR CHOICE DIET. On the 12th of October, I reached normal weight, having lost 80 pounds.

CRIED FOR FOOD

"The first two weeks on the diet, my stomach cried for food. But after that, it wasn't difficult to stick to the choice pattern, except for an occasional day. During the time I was reducing, I ate nothing with sugar added except when I was invited out for a meal. Nor did I use artificial sweeteners. My idea was to train my appetite so that I could eat sweets within reasonable limits. The protein food at every meal plus the other strength giving foods in your diet kept up my energy.

"I have a feeling of well being now that I haven't experienced in 40 years. I don't look like a 16-year-old, but I feel like a different person. Folks stop me on the street and ask what I have been taking to reduce. I always explain I ate to reduce. . . . I marvel at how much easier it has been to reduce on a rational plan."

There you are, overweights—eating to reduce is not so much a "diet" as it is a food pattern that meets the repair and regulating needs of the body and satisfies hunger while it curbs calories. Why don't you try it?

Climbed to Fame on a Rainbow

By BETTY CARROLLTON

"Finian's Rainbow."

Dynamic Dorothy Claire, currently appearing at the Paradise Room, hit the big time in her first Broadway role — the lead in "Finian's Rainbow."

Dorothy was appearing at the Strand Theater in New York when the producer of "Finian's Rainbow," then looking for a replacement for Ella Logan who was starring in the show, caught her act. The blonde singer was asked to audition.

FIVE AUDITIONS

"I gave five auditions," she recalled, "and it scared the living daylights out of me. I'd never tried for a part in any Broadway production before, and knew practically nothing about the theater."

Dorothy had moved on to Baltimore when she received the contract for the part in the hit production.

"It was three days after the audition," she said, "and I, of course, thought my agent would at least call if I got the part. But he just sent an air mail letter, enclosing the contract. Imagine!"

Dorothy's first appearance in "Finian's Rainbow" came as a surprise — after only five days' rehearsal — and that only with understudies.

"I thought they were kidding when they called at 10:30 one morning to say I was to do the matinee that day because Ella was ill and I kidded right back."

Finally convinced that she really was to appear, Dorothy dashed over to the theater to prepare for her first Broadway curtain call. And she accomplished what many theaterites consider almost impossible: she breezed through the show without a single mistake.

"I'd never rehearsed with any of the principal cast members," she said, "but it went off fine. I think that was the biggest thrill of my career."

Offstage, Dorothy is Mrs. Emmett Carls.

"AS THRILLED AS I"

"Emmett was as thrilled as I," she said.

She starred in the show for two years, before hitting the night club circuit.

The Carls have found the answer to blending career and marriage — they work together, concentrating on one career. Emmett is music director for Dorothy's shows.

The couple met when they appeared with the same band. Emmett was playing sax and Dorothy was doing the vocals.

"Our working together is ideal," she pointed out, "and most important of all, we're together. When Emmett had his own band in New York, I was working on the West Coast. We kept calling each other, both of us miserable being apart. So we decided to work together, concentrating on my career."

REHEARSALS

Emmett writes the musical arrangements for Dorothy's numbers, takes care of all rehearsals, and plays the role of critic. (At times he has the role of prompter, too).

"We have a meeting after each show," she explained. "Emmett will point out flaws and offer suggestions. He's really wonderful."

Dorothy's current act is a versatile one. She not only sings, but lisps into comedy and a highly dramatic sketch. She uses up a lot of energy during her act, but that's the way she wants it.

"It would be a waste of time unless I could get out there and really go," she said.

The Fashion In Faces Has Changed...

The new look is shockingly beautiful

We are just leaving the era of the heavily masked complexion that had a frankly phony color. The cake foundation that first came so many years ago had us all, for years, wearing a false Florida Suntan. Suddenly these glaring, false faces seemed as old fashioned as high button shoes.

The current fashion for faces is this: first, lighter color—paler make-up to give the skin a more fragile, sheltered look. And new make-up textures, which hide the sins of skin, but do not mask it so entirely. There is a more luminous, pearl-like look to the complexion these days—and a certain fragility that's oh! so very feminine—so completely disarming. You can get this shockingly beautiful new effect with LANOLIN PLUS Liquid Make-Up. Also, remember this is the only liquid make-up in the world to contain LANOLIN PLUS Liquid—the famous skin softener. $1, plus tax, in a choice of five head-turning shades, wherever cosmetics are sold.

YOUR STARS TODAY

DAILY GUIDE—There will still be some high tension in the air because of the full moon, so better watch your own tendency towards restlessness and also keep aware of the instability in general around you.

There could be some false notes struck today. If you planted weeds the fast growth at this time could alarm you. This is a time of fruition. Seek pleasant entertainment in the evening — music, romance or read a mystery story.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ARIES! Relax, the news is good! The immediate trend is for you to get busy now on correspondence or take a little trip or express your views in some way.

You will also feel like being more active in your day-to-day environment. June and July may be a little hectic due to outside conditions which may bring changes into your domestic circle.

Miss Dark, Lt. Keener Speak Vows

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Eula Jean Keener of Fairmont, W. Va., was maid of honor. Lt. Andrew F. Underwood of San Antonio, Tex., a West Point classmate of Lt. Keener, served as best man. Phillip J. Dark was the acolyte.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of the Tri Delta Sorority. Until the time of her marriage, she was a graduate student at Emory University where she was completing courses for a master's degree in speech correction. She was on the teaching staff of the Atlanta Junior League Speech School.

Lt. Keener attended Fairmont State College and the Colombian Preparatory School, Washington, D.C. He is a 1954 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, and is presently assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., where the couple will reside.

Add Colorful Beauty To Your Garden, To The Dogwood City. Plant More Dogwoods Now

Hurry to set out these beautiful dogwoods both pink and white. The Atlanta area is famous for our beautiful dogwoods. Obviously our soil and climate conditions are ideal for them. Add their colorful beauty to your garden and your city.

WHITE DOGWOOD

The famous common white dogwood—nursery grown for easy, successful transplanting. Mix peatmoss and Vertagreen with the soil removed from the hole before replacing. Water thoroughly.

Leaving Old Ice Box Exposed To Children Costs Dealer $100

An Atlanta used appliance dealer Wednesday was fined $100 or 60 days in the city's first case under a 1953 ordinance which prohibits leaving old refrigerators with outside locking devices available to children.

Municipal Judge James Webb assessed the fine against Thomas E. Futral, who lives at 234 Georgia Ave., SE.

Ptl. C. E. Strickland and W. O. Dempsey said they found seven refrigerators—four with latches—in Futral's yard. They said children were playing in the adjoining yard.

Just Before the Battle

From the neck down, the sight of the new Atlanta Crackers was a comfort. They looked like the New York Yankees in their new suits. From the neck up, the sight was considerably disturbing. They looked like the Kansas City A's in their new beanies with the old English "A."

"You were right the first time," said Bob Montag, the author of 39 home runs last season. "We're the Yankee type. Nothing but pennants. Watch us. We might be the first team that ever won five in a row in this league."

Bisher

"We've got a good team," George McQuinn said. As the manager of the team, it is somewhat important that he be pleased with what he's got. "That outfield, it's full of power. Our pitching's good. First base, I guess you'd say, is our only unsettled position on the infield. I'd like for Earl Hersh to have some more experience around the bag, but he's a good prospect.

"Who knows? Maybe a kid like that, with his power and his natural ability, gets off to a good start and nobody can get him off the team. He's got a chance to be as good a man in the field as Kluszewski.

"I like Jack Caro at short. I know he isn't going to set any home run records, but he can swing that bat. He'll get his share of singles. The kind of ball club he's on, that's all right. There's plenty of other guys to hit the long ball. They tell me he was pretty well confused when he was here a couple of years ago, told to make a play one way one day and another way the next. He'll get an education playing between a third baseman like Bob Boring and a second baseman like Frank DiPrima. This could be a big year for him.

"Butterflies?" Yeah, I'll have butterflies, not in Birmingham, but when we open here next Monday night. It's just like a fighter before he goes into the ring. You've always got butterflies when you open a new season. Not in Birmingham. You don't care what the fans say over there. But here, here's where I'll have the butterflies next Monday. These are our people."

—Dressen Blamed His Bullpen King

McQuinn's men were rollicking around the cage at Ponce de Leon. They were looking at the pitching of Bill Tosheff, the rookie pitching hit of the spring, and Bill George, and later the catcher, Bill Casey, who looked very poorly dressed as he stood on the hill wearing his big mitt.

This was their last trial run before the beginning of the defense of their title in Birmingham. You could tell that this wasn't the kind of ball club to cultivate a crop of butterflies in the maw, except for that home opener. There were too many eyes that had seen many an opening day before.

There was Clyde King, for instance. He'd seen his share in the major leagues from the inside of a Brooklyn and Cincinnati uniform. He was employed to save games in those days, and one year he saved 14 for Brooklyn and still Charley Dressen blamed him for losing the pennant. That was the year Bobby Thomson hit THAT home run, and in the last three weeks of the season King was useless to the Dodgers as they tried to fight off the pressing Giants.

"I didn't work at all the last three weeks," King said, "and Dressen spent the winter blaming me for losing the pennant. The reason I didn't work the last three weeks was because I'd worked almost every day of the first three weeks. I just ran down, that's all."

Montag has seen the start of two seasons in a Cracker suit. He wore a bandage on the finger that Whitey Ford hit Friday night. "But come 7:30 tomorrow night," he said, "Der Tag will be in there. Pay day starts then, you know."

—But Great Teams Have Finished Fifth

A party of the first part mentioned to Montag that after that big year of his .423 in the New England league his batting average had taken a serious dive.

"From .423 to .280," he said in his phlegmatic way. "That's right. But I hit 20 home runs. I led the league until I got hurt. And I was jumping from Class B to Triple A.

"If you're trying to scare me about this season, I don't scare easy. I'm not worried. I'm not expecting to hit 39 home runs again. I told you last year I'm not a home run hitter, and I'm not. I just happened to have a year. I'd much rather hit .350 and drive in 150 runs and hit 20 home runs than to be a home run hitter. I don't go up there looking for home runs. They just happen."

Between Montag, Bob Thorpe and Dick Sinovic the '55 model outfield represents 75 home runs. This is power a pitcher loves. With the pitching it made everything look simply great.

Murray Wall, in from Toledo, should be a sure 20-game winner. He and King and Tosheff are the only established starters. Pete Modica and Joe Piercey are the only established bullpen tenants. Phil Paine, Dick Kelly, Bill Roland, Bill George and Dick Roberson must make a home for themselves.

"Looks like a great team, doesn't it?" Thorpe said. "Great team. But I've seen teams like it finish fifth. I played on one. You can't tell about teams like this until you put them on the field together and go around the league. I played on one just like it that didn't win.

"But that was another year and another team. I like this one. I'm sorry I missed the pennant last year. I'd like to have one for myself this year."

Engel Says CraxPulling 'Spite Deal'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 6 (AP)—Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, said today that Earl Mann, Atlanta Crackers president, would send home run slugger Ralph Atkins out of the Southern Assn. "rather than let me or any of his other associates have the player."

Engel, conducting a running battle with Mann over the services of the tall first-baseman, told Chattanooga Times sports writer Buss Walker that "I believe Mann had Toledo draft Atkins from Little Rock so the Crackers could get him for nothing."

Engel made a similar statement before the Chattanooga Loans Club today.

Atkins, who slammed 31 home runs for Little Rock last year, was drafted by Toledo last winter. The Milwaukee farm club, however, does not need him this season and wants to send him to the Crackers.

Baseball law provides Little Rock first claim on the slugger but the Travelers have said they would pass him. The rules hold that since Atlanta won the 1954 Southern Assn. pennant, all six other league members are entitled to speak bofore Atkins can join Atlanta.

Engel's statements to Walker came after the Lookout president had talked to both Mann and the Toledo president today by telephone.

Terry Moore, The Ermine Kid, To Serve Curve

Terry Moore, the one who starred in Hollywood, instead of St. Louis, will serve up the first curve here next Monday night at 7:45, when the Atlanta Crackers open their home season against Chattanooga.

She is a star of stage and screen, and created controversy when she dressed out in an ermine bathing suit to entertain troops in Korea.

McQuinn Loaded With Vets For Baron Opener Tonight

King Faces Birmingham's Beardslee on Mound; Crackers Flag Favorite With Overall .311 BA

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, April 6—New Manager George McQuinn will send right-hander Clyde King and a power-packed array of Southern Association vets against Birmingham Thursday night, as Atlanta's defending Dixie champs tear the tinsel off the 1955 season.

Phil Page, gunning for Birmingham's first pennant since 1931 in his freshman run as Baron pilot, has named right-hander Ken Beardslee as his starter. The 24-year-old Beardslee had a 15-4 record and a 3.17 ERA at Norfolk a year ago. King read 7-6 at Tulsa and Indianapolis.

A crowd of 8,000 is expected to greet the new season in Rickwood Park. First pitch is 8:30 (EST).

For the first time in several years, the Crackers are going to post with a lineup that may require no alteration. Parent Milwaukee has come through handsomely, and Earl Mann's 22d Cracker edition is a strong favorite to grab the flag for the second year in a row.

The eight regulars boast an overall batting average of .311, and a staggering total of 616 RBI. These figures are based on '54 marks, with the exception of Bob Boring. The slugging third baseman, out of baseball last year with a bum back, delivered 111 runs and hit .315 at Nashville in 1953.

There isn't a Southern Association stranger among the Cracker starters. Shortstop Jack Caro and first-baseman Earl Hersh, who wear rookie labels, played a few games with the Crackers in '53 and '54, respectively.

Chattanooga's Joe Engel has cemented Hersh's hold on first base by refusing to withdraw his claim for Ralph Atkins, now stationed at Toledo. Rather than lose Atkins, who was drafted from Little Rock, via a claim, the Sox are expected to ship him to another league.

Hersh, a .347 sticker at Evansville last season, and Bob Montag are the only southpaw swingers. Caro, moving up after a fine season at Jacksonville where he hit .315, must also prove that he belongs in AA company. McQuinn, for one, thinks Caro will measure up.

Probable starting lineups:
ATLANTA	BIRMINGHAM
Caro ss	Pilarcik cf
Thorpe cf	Lumpe ss
Boring 3b	Hamilton 1b
Montag rf	Tellinger lf
Sinovic lf	Marolewski 3b
Hersh 1b	Meisner 2b
DiPrima 2b	Martyn rf
Solt c	Neeman c
King p	Beardslee p

Frank DiPrima, best clutch hitter on the '54 club, rounds out the infield. Jim Solt, seemingly headed for his finest season, will handle most of the catching. McQuinn has decided to keep Bill Casey, another Jacksonville product, as Solt's understudy.

This decision came as something of a surprise Wednesday, for Mike Roarke, former Boston College football star, had alternated with Solt most of the spring. Roarke will continue to work out with the team until the Braves find a spot for him. Same applies to Poochie Hartsfield, promising young infielder.

With Dick Sinovic and Bob Thorpe returning from Toledo to team with Montag, the Crackers may have their hardest-hitting outfield. The trio belted 75 homers last year. However, they won't win many defensive plaudits. Montag, provided his injured finger has healed, will open in left, with Thorpe in center and Sinovic in right.

Since the 30-year-old King hurled only seven spring innings, McQuinn isn't banking on him to go all the way. Either Pete Modica or southpaw Joe Piercey probably will take over in the late innings.

Both King and the Barons' Beardslee tuned up for their starting assignments against the New York Yankees. King limited the Yanks to one run in four innings in Atlanta, Beardslee held them to one hit for four rounds here.

The Barons, a Yankee farm club, have three veterans and six rookies in their line-up. Tom Hamilton, who hit .354 after joining the team last year, returns at first base, and Emil Tellinger, a member of the '53 team, will be in left field. Tellinger and third baseman Fred Marolewski played for Houston against the Crackers in the Dixie Series.

Bob Meisner, signed off the Southern Cal campus by the Yankees, is stationed at second. He hit .280 for Quincy and drove in 103 runs in '54. Shortstop belongs to Jerry Lumpe, recently discharged from the Army.

The clubs will be idle Friday, play a single game Saturday and a double-header Sunday. The Crackers then return for their home opener against Chattanooga next Monday night.

Herb Score, the Tribe's widely heralded rookie southpaw, pitched the first four innings and was scored upon for the first time this spring.

For the Giants, Jim Hearn went the first seven innings, yielding two runs, one of them unearned. The 32-year-old right-hander also helped the attack with a home run, his second of the spring.

Hogan Choice As Masters Opens Today

"SARAZEN BRIDGE" DEDICATED ON AUGUSTA NATIONAL COURSE
Gene (L) Gets Handshake from Bobby Jones. Cliff Roberts Looks On

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, April 6—Ben Hogan, who has played in only one tournament since last year's U.S. Open championship, will go to the barrier in the 19th Masters Golf Tournament here Thursday a narrow favorite to unseat Slammin' Sam Snead as owner of this coveted crown.

Hogan, who has been devoting all his time to getting the new Ben Hogan clubs on the market, is a 3½-to-1 choice to take the title he lost to Snead in an 18-hole playoff last year after they wound up in a 289 deadlock at end of regulation 72 holes.

The Fort Worth precisionist captured his first Masters in 1951 with a 280 finish. Snead succeeded him in 1952, taking the title with a 286. Hogan then came back to smash the tournament record by five strokes with a sensational 274 in 1953.

It is the belief of the old-timers here that the tournament will go to a player with plenty of experience on this course. Knowing the business-like manner in which the Texan goes about his job in the major arenas, the betting fraternity couldn't pass him up.

Snead, seeking a record fourth Masters title and bucking the jinx that has befallen all previous defending champs, is rated a close up 4½ to 1 pick behind Ben.

Cary Middlecoff, the former U.S. Open champ from Memphis, is seen as the player most likely to break up the Snead-Hogan stranglehold which has prevailed since Jimmy Demaret's third Masters victory in 1950. Jolly Jimmy is missing from this year's field due to a recent operation.

Middlecoff is third choice at 6 to 1, followed by Mike Souchak, money winners with $12,700. The sensational Souchak, playing in his first Masters, is 8 to 1, followed by another young star, Gene Littler at 10 to 1.

Amateur Billy Joe Patton from Morganton, N.C., who finished one stroke behind Snead and Hogan in '54 with a 290, is the best liked of the star-studded amateur field.

Of this group, Middlecoff has been hitting the ball exceptionally well and could easily be the man who steps into the winner's circle to take the big check from Bob Jones, the Augusta National Golf Club's president, late Sunday afternoon.

The field, which starts teeing off Thursday at 10:30 a.m., numbers 78 players—19 amateurs and 59 professionals. This includes all former Masters champions with the exception of Demaret and Ralph Guldahl. Last year's record field was 79.

Among Wednesday's low practice rounds were Souchak, 70; Claude Harmon, 69; Lew Worsham, 68; Tommy Bolt, 68; Bob Toski, 68; Peter Thomson, 69, and Jackie Burke, 71.

Thomson, the British Open champion from Melbourne, Australia, is the top foreign threat. Other foreign entries include Pat Fletcher, Stan Leonard and Rudy Horvath, all from Canada.

HAAS NEARLY DUPLICATES DOUBLE-EAGLE ON GENE'S 'DAY'

AUGUSTA, April 6—Wednesday was "Gene Sarazen" day at Augusta National.

The little "sardine" whose famous double-eagle on the par five 15th hole in 1935 enabled him to tie Craig Wood and later beat him in a playoff, had fond memories brought back to him when a bridge across the pond at No. 15 was dedicated in his honor.

Tournament chairman Cliff Roberts, Bob Jones, who was just walking off the green when Sarazen made the shot that was heard around the world; Wood and Sarazen himself, made short talks recalling the famous shot.

Later 43 of the 1955 entries tried to duplicate the shot from the spot where Gene hit 232 yards out with a four wood.

Fred Haas of New Orleans won the contest hitting a four wood four feet, one inch from the pin. Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., was second, six feet, one inch away. Both Haas and Palmer put their two shots on the green. Only 10 of the players were able to stop their ball on the green.

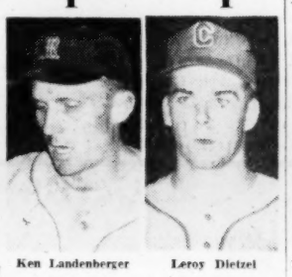
Sarazen will be presented a silver cigar box bearing the signatures of all the players who competed in the 1935 tournament. This will be presented Sunday. —PRATHER

30,000 Fans Expected As Southern Opens Up

Seven Managers Rookies in Loop

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Seven new managers and a surprisingly large number of veteran Class AA ballplayers will be on hand when the Southern Association opens its 55th baseball season today in Chattanooga and tonight in Birmingham, Little Rock and New Orleans.



Ken Landenberger

Leroy Dietzel

Unless rain or cold weather intrudes, about 30,000 folks ought to be watching when defending champion Atlanta lifts the lid at Birmingham, Nashville at Chattanooga, Memphis at Little Rock and Mobile at New Orleans.

Atlanta gets the jump by opening its home slate next Monday night against Chattanooga. Other secondary openers Tuesday night find Little Rock at Memphis, Birmingham at Nashville and New Orleans at Mobile.

Of the 1954 pilots, only 30-year-old Cal Ermer at Chattanooga returns. George McQuinn, former American League first baseman, took Whitlow Wyatt's Atlanta spot when Whit went to the Philadelphia Phillies as a coach; Phil Page, an old pitcher, succeeded Mayo Smith at Birmingham after Smith won promotion as Phillie manager; Jack Cassini, veteran from the Brooklyn farm chain, will manage Memphis and probably play second base.

Andy Cohen, ex-second baseman, makes his debut as New Orleans skipper; another former keystoner, Bob Mavis, has taken over the Little Rock helm from Pat Mullin; one-time catcher Joe Schultz comes from Texas to replace Hugh Poland at Nashville; and Clay Bryant, a pitching star at New Orleans in the mid-thirties, will call the signals at Mobile.

Besides sporting a seasoned pitching department, Memphis has picked up veteran outfielder Ed White from the Chicago White Sox, Dixie Upright from the Pacific Coast League and first baseman Ken Landenberger from Toronto. Landenberger starred for the Chicks last season with White.

Upright, another ex-Chick, comes from Los Angeles. To catch, the Chicks have signed Joe Tipton, a big leaguer for several years at Washington and Cleveland.

At Chattanooga, Ermer will have veterans Roy Hawes, Leroy Dietzel, Lyle Luttrell and Don Grate in the infield and Bruce Barmes, Dan Porter and Tom Wright as outfielders. Old hands Frank Sacka and Larry Ciaffone will handle the catching, receiving such seasoned hurlers as Al Sima, Bob Ross, Zeke Zeisz, Bob Ludwick and Dick McCoy.

Owl Netters Win

West Fulton No 1 man, Jimmy Spratling, got the Owl netters off to a running start in their 5-0 conquest of Murphy at Maddox Park Wednesday. Spratling won in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0.

TAR HEEL AMATEUR TO WOW 'EM AGAIN?

Billy Joe Patton at Ease With His Mother

MASTERS' SIDELIGHTS

Three Tar Heels Top Keen Amateur Field

AUGUSTA, April 6—The battle for low amateur honors in this year's Masters should be a keen one and could help Walker Cup Capt. Bill Campbell get a line on the team he will lead against the British swingers at St. Andrews, Scotland, come May.

Of the nine members, only Dick Yost is not playing here. Participating are Campbell, Harvie Ward, Don Cherry, James Jackson, Billy Joe Patton, Joe Conrad, Bruce Cudd and Dale Morey. Alternates Rex Baxter, Hillman Robbins and Ed Meister are also here to swell the amateur brigade.

The battle for top amateur spot here is expected to be between three North Carolina natives—Patton of Morganton, Ward, formerly of Tarboro, but now living in San Francisco, and Dick Chapman, Pinehurst. Patton was not only low amateur here last year, but nearly won the tournament, finishing just a stroke back with a 290.

Harold Sargent, pro at Atlanta's East Lake Country Club, will again do the announcing on the 9th green. Ralph Hutchinson will call the scores at the 18th. Both have been named to the rules committee this year. . . . Dick Garlington of Atlanta heads the committee. . . . Charley Yates, captain of the last Walker Cup team, and brother Danny came in from Atlanta Wednesday to take in the tournament. . . . Davis Love of University of Texas, and Rex Baxter, University of Houston, are the two youngest players in the tournament. Each is 19. . . . Freddie McLeod, veteran Washington, D.C., professional who is 73, is the oldest entry. Jock Hutchinson is next. He has just turned 71. . . . Horton Smith is the only player who has played in every round of every Masters. . . . Gene Sarazen, Denny Shute and Byron Nelson have made 17 of them.—PRATHER.

Larry Solves Bears' Woes

Ronnie Larry, a sophomore, solved Campbell of Fairburn's second base problems Wednesday when he drove in the run that beat College Park, 4-3, on the College Park diamond.

Druid Hills and Marist played eight innings and parted because of darkness in another region 4-A West game, this one ending in a 4-4 deadlock.

Chamblee Wins DeKalb Track Meet

Chamblee's track team set two of six brand-new records Wednesday in winning the DeKalb County Meet by edging Druid Hills, which established four of the marks, 48-46½, at Emory University.

Tim Singleton of the Druids was a record-breaker in the low hurdles, high hurdles and on the record-breaking relay foursome.

STAKES ALWAYS HIGH

French Wrestler Finds Sport Tame After Wartime Danger

By MICKEY LOGUE

Andre Drapp, Mr. Europe of 1948 and professional wrestler since, paused in his workouts at a local gym Wednesday to tell of a grim game 15 years removed in which the stakes always ran high.

The dark, curly-haired Frenchman, now carrying 210 pounds spaced compactly on a 5-10 frame, was a 16-year-old National 140-pound Greco-Roman junior wrestling champion when the Germans invaded his Alsace-Lorraine homeland in 1940.

After a short stay as an unwilling worker in Germany, Drapp made a 700-mile solo journey to the Pyrenees Mountain stronghold of an 150-man French underground unit.

"From our border position we shuttled downed American and British pilots into Spain on one lap of their trip back to the Allies," Drapp said in his not-so-bad English.

The dangerous work of transporting downed airmen through mountainous terrain via mule while encountering German patrols and often getting lost was increased in 1941. "We got weapons from England and became organized like an army," Drapp recalls, striking enemy ammunition factories and trains, constantly on the move.

"We had no regular sports for two years, but the biggest sport—keeping alive—kept us in good condition."

Drapp's wartime action didn't go unrecognized. Ten letters have come his way from pilots, who recognized his picture in various magazines, he said.

Drapp represented France in the 1948 Olympics at London and received the French Oscan award for wrestling. Oscans are to French sports as Oscars are to American movies.

Andre, in his third American visit, thanks the U. S. for his pretty wife a French girl formerly of the Ballet Russe, whom he met half a world from home in Los Angeles.

'BAMA CROW CAUGHT BASS HE OUGHT TO HAVE AVOIDED

By BILL ALLEN

Gordon Clark of LaFayette, Ala., adds a fowl and fish tale to the growing collection on my spike. He says he and some friends captured a crow on Martin Lake on the Tallapoosa River that had a small bass hanging from one foot.

Bill Allen

The line had cut into the crow's leg and the bass was dry-cured, Gordon claims, but still could hop from tree to tree, dragging the heavily aromatic remains behind him.

Brave was the man who freed the crow from his burden.

A ROYAL ACCOLADE: J. C. Happy Royal, who passed away last week, was one of Putnam County's most beloved citizens. He was a good farmer and a firm believer in sound conservation principles. He was 72, and had raised nine fine children. There are many good things that can always be said about Mister Happy.

I thought it was more than fitting that the author of his obituary, which appeared in The Constitution, made sure to point out that one of Mr. Royal's claims to immortality was that he was "known as one of Putnam County's best fishermen." Who could ask for a better memory?

SHORT CASTS: Clyde Hunter, a 10-year-old Towns County lad, got the thrill of a lifetime last week, landing a 7-pound largemouth bass in Lake Chatuge on a huge gob of worms and a cane pole. . . . Yellow perch up to a pound and a half are being taken there with regularity, the largest lately by Mrs. Gen (Odena) Caldwell. . . . Mac Nelson nailed the bream limit three days in a row, with some nearing the one pound mark, also in Chatuge. . . . At Clark Hill's Little River, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Henson and Tommy Reeder got their limit of bass two days in a row, hunting the schooling shad and manipulating the plugging shorty therein. . . . Ray Doughton got his limit of rainbows and brown up to 15 inches on a Rabun County stream. . . . At the Flying S ranch, Villa Rica, Buddy Stockmar reports these catches: Dural Freeman of Dallas with 15 bluegill bream weighing 18 pounds. (That's my kind of fishing, and yours, too). . . . Pete Dowda leads the bass parade with a seven-pound bass on a live minnow. . . . Percy Cowart got one weighing six pounds, 13 ounces and Troy Mitchell of Marietta, got a six pounder, both on shallow running lures. Stockmar says 100 bass between six and seven pounds have been taken since Jan. 1. . . . J. A. Thomas and Maxie Beard caught 18 bass from three to eight pounds on the walkie-talkie at a Florida lake.

Macs Blow Decision to Peoria, 9-8

Special to The Constitution

ALBANY, April 6—Wilmer Mizell gave Ft. McPherson an 8-0 lead, but three other Ft. Mac pitchers blew it and Peoria, Ill., won out, 9-8, Wednesday afternoon.

The Macs led Peoria, 8-0, for 7½ innings, but Peoria surged from behind to take the contest in the 11th. A sacrifice fly by Peoria shortstop Dave Garcia drove in catcher Mike Mauriello with a winning run. Taylor Phillips was the losing pitcher, Bob Thompson the winner.

Four Auburn Batters Average .400 and Up

Special to The Constitution

AUBURN, Ala., April 6—Paul Susce (1-1) and Herbie Pearce (2-0) will have the mound chores Friday and Saturday when Auburn plays host to Vanderbilt University at Plainsman Park.

Coach Dick McGowan's team will be seeking its second SEC victory of the season Friday afternoon at 2:30 (CST) when Susce faces the Commodores.

Four regulars have batting averages of .400 or better, led by third baseman Jim Pyburn, the 1954 SEC batting champion, who is batting .462. Others are All-SEC centerfielder Doug Dickey, .429; right fielder Howell Tubbs, .406, and shortstop Henry Sturkie, .400.

Pyburn has the best batting average, .462; most doubles, four, and the most runs-batted-in, 10.

Hesmondhalgh Gets No-Hit Victory, 1-0

Murphy Homers Twice As Fulton Slugs Tide, 10-3

By MORT PERSKY

Brown High's Roland Hesmondhalgh hurled the first no-hitter of the City League season against Smith Wednesday afternoon to steal the show from Fulton sluggers who fashioned a 10-3 victory over Roosevelt on four long-gone homers.

Hesmondhalgh opposed Smith's Bobby Braden, who surrendered only four hits in absorbing the 1-0 loss.

For Fulton, Fred Murphy smashed two Roosevelt serves out of the park. His battery-mate, pitcher Charlie Wright, hit another, and center fielder Vernon Cunard hit a fourth ball that cleared the Redbird left field bank and frightened Jonesboro Road traffic.

Except for the stints of Hesmandhalgh and of Wright, who had a one-hitter for six innings, pitching would have fallen from its early high status. Southwest chopped away for a 13-8 win over Sylvan; Grady won its third straight, beating Murphy, 7-6; Bass crumpled O'Keefe, 5-2, with a last-inning uprising, and West Fulton scored in only two frames while battering North Fulton, 9-2.

Bobby Zuelke singled with the bases loaded, in the sixth inning to score Brown's lone run and lighten Hesmondhalgh's chore. Hesmondhalgh struck out 11 batters and walked three in the Grant Park jewel.

Murphy's first homer, with Roy Jackson aboard, started Fulton's bat rampage. On the next pitch flipped up by Roosevelt's Fred Rice, Wright smacked one into the truckers' station across the road, got the last Tide batter on an infield fly. Over the first six stanzas, the only Roosevelt safety was a high popper Wright himself misjudged. He struck out 11.

Joel Grayson fanned 12 Murphy Eagles for Grady and Park Turner supplied the batting punch, three-for-four, including a double.

Larry Morris Clouts Pair; Mercer's Culbreth Fans 10

MACON, April 6 (AP)—Georgia Tech rallied for seven runs in the last two innings but still fell one short as the Mercer Bears took their third victory of the season over a Southeastern Conference baseball team, 11-10.

The victory evened the season series between the two schools, Tech having handed Mercer its only loss of the season, 5-4, in Atlanta.

Big Bud Culbreth, the Bears' workhorse right hander was the victor, getting only brief relief in the eighth inning. First baseman Gene Harrelson and Culbreth swapped positions then and Harrelson pitched to one batter before Culbreth took over again. Culbreth fanned 10 batters all told.

Loser was Bob Patton, Tech's starter, who was knocked out in the fourth as Mercer scored six runs. Burton Grant came on in relief but was lifted for a pinch hitter, Bob Trowbridge hurling the ninth.

NEW TANNER MAY SHOW OFF FOR FOLKS IN ATLANTA SOON

BY LARRY FOX

THERE MAY BE another Tanner performing in sports for Atlanta fans in a year or two. Chuck Tanner, of course, provided many a thrill as an outfielder with the Crackers for four seasons before moving up to the Milwaukee Braves this year. His younger brother, Bob, however is a star in another sport. Bob is a quarterback for New Castle, Pa., High School and a darn good one. He'll be a senior next year and played regularly last season despite being a 15-year-old junior. Georgia Tech, hearing about the boy from Chuck last summer, and Maryland have already expressed interest in Bob and it's not too far fetched to think he might end up out on the Flats.

Larry Fox

Georgia Teachers college this summer will welcome the return of Scotty Perkins, one of its all-time basketball greats. Perkins, 6-3, is just out of the Air Force and if he plays at GTC next year will make a potent running mate for huge Chester Webb . . . The report on Lamar Leachman at Tennessee is encouraging. Gus Manning, Vol publicity man, writes, "So far Leachman's knee has not hindered him at all from the operation and he has regained some of his speed. At the present time, he is a definite contender for our center position." Leachman, 200-pound Cartersville bull, sat out last football season recovering from his knee operation.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: Darrell Royal of Mississippi State, here to watch Tech spring practice and moaning about his 1955 schedule that includes eight SEC schools: "We play three of what I think will be the top four teams in the conference and the rest of our schedule looks tougher'n'ell. Its just a matter of blind ignorance to face a schedule like that but the kids like it, so we go ahead."

LOOK-ALIKES: Whack Hyder, Georgia Tech basketball coach, and George McQuinn, new manager of the Crackers. Both are the talk softly type, too. . . . Phil Grawemeyer, Kentucky cage star and also a fine left-handed pitcher, is still sidelined by that leg he broke this winter. He'll leave a big gap in the Wildcat mound staff, which opens its SEC action with Tech Friday. . . . Next time Rollins and North Carolina meet in baseball, there will also be a meeting of the Tars' Connie Mack Butler and the Tar Heels' Connie Mack Gravitte. Appropriate, huh?

Cliff Wells of Tulane and Everett Case of North Carolina State will again operate their Indiana State Basketball Coaches' Clinic in Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 2-5. . . . Lou Deutschmann, the big fullback who reportedly quit or was fired at LSU, is still operating on the baseball team. Plays outfield. . . . Denver Brackeen, the basektball whiz, is high jumping (naturally) for the Mississippi track team while Atlanta's Bill Simerville, brother of Tech-bound Lester, is the Rebels' top pole vaulter.

Dropo Homers Twice

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 6 (AP)—Walt Dropo powered two bonus-run homers today, one off aging Vic Raschi and the other off southpaw Harvey Haddix, to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 13-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rip Repulski sparked the Cardinals attack, connecting for his fourth exhibition homer in the fifth and getting three safeties in all for his afternoon's work.

Two Fullbacks Injured, Dodd Moves Volkert

Tech Weak Spots All Hit by Hex

By LARRY FOX

Georgia Tech's injury hex has completed its circuit of the Jackets' three most sensitive positions with a double-barreled attack on the fullbacks.

And to help fill in the gap, right halfback George Volkert, the blond speedster from Nashville, was shifted to fullback Wednesday.

First fullback injury was to Dick Gookin, also converted from halfback this spring. He hurt his ankle in Saturday's scrimmage. Then, Monday, Ken Owen suffered internal injuries of an undetermined nature and will be out for several days or longer. These were two of the top three fullbacks in camp.

All winter, Head Coach Bobby Dodd has mulled the subject of shifting one of his many halfbacks to the deep spot. Gookin was the first to get a shot there and now Volkert gets a trial.

Volkert, a 178-pound junior, right now is operating in the same backfield with quarterback Toppy Vann and halfbacks Stan Flowers and Jimmy Noe. Dick Mattison is fullbacking the first unit, Johnny Thomason the third. All will be interchanged among units.

To fill in for Volkert at right half, Bobby Almand was moved up from the B team because of his fine scrimmage showing against the varsity.

The round of injuries first hit Tech's weakest position, end, when Paul Vickers, a promising freshman, broke his hand. Then, center, the second weakest, was rattled when Jimmy Morris, the team captain, reinjured his knee. Now fullback, with last year's two regulars graduated, has been hit.

Michigan Tops Tech Netmen

Michigan's tennis team, one of the best in the Big 10, turned back Georgia Tech, 8-1, Wednesday.

Singles—Berry MacKay (M) d. Mike Tierney, 6-2, 6-3; Mark Jaffe (M) d. Jack Heisel, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1; Bob Nederlander (M) d. Earle Bortell, 6-1, 7-5; Pete Paulus (M) d. Lee Jones, 6-2, 6-4; Bob Mitchell (M) d. Nelson Arrington, 6-3, 6-1; Dick Potter (M) d. Roger Crite, 6-0, 6-0.
Doubles—MacKay and Nederlander (M) d. Heisel and Bortell, 8-6, 6-3; Tierney and Jones (GT) d. Mann and Paulus, 6-4, 8-6; Bob Paley and Jaffe (M) d. Arrington and Crite, 7-5, 6-1.

Market Stumbles Past Late Selloff

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—The stock market managed to eke out an advance today in the face of late selling. Gains and losses usually covered a range of around 2 points but some stocks were well outside those limits.

The market started higher and continued its advance in a cautious manner until the final hour when selling to take profits appeared.

Steels led the rise but they suffered somewhat in the late selling as did all major divisions.

Airlines were a strong late feature while also higher were the utilities, motors, coppers, motion pictures, chemicals and railroads. The rest of the market, including aircrafts, was mixed.

LIMITED HANGS

The stock market has been moving within a limited range for some days now since its strong recovery from the early March break. Prices on average are near their highest peaks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 30 cents at $160.80. That is only $1.80 away from the historic peak reached March 4.

The three components of the average advanced—industrials 30 cents, rails 50 cents, and utilities 10 cents.

The market broadened out slightly from yesterday with 1,224 issues traded, a rise of 22 issues. There were 576 stocks advancing and 411 declining with 88 new highs and 12 new lows for the year.

VOLUME HIGHER

Business amounted to 2,500,000 shares as compared with 2,100,000 shares traded yesterday. Both totals are well below the daily average so far this year.

Today's rather subdued market performance wasn't surprising to brokers who pointed out that impending Jewish and Christian holidays tend to cut down normal Wall Street attendance. Security markets will be closed Good Friday.

New York Central was at the top of the most-active list up ¾ at 38⅞ on 42,500 shares.

Babcock & Wilcox, which has been strong recently on news of its activities in the atomic power field, lost 4¾ at 103 today. The drop followed a statement at the annual meeting that any considerable profit from nuclear power was in the future.

FADES AT CLOSE

Bethlehem Steel, up 5¼ at 137½ yesterday, moved on up today to a high of 140, but it lost out in the final hour and closed off ⅜ at 137⅛.

Other steels did well—Inland up 1¼, U.S. Steel up 1⅛, Alleghany Ludlum up 1¾, and Armco up 1½.

Coffee Futures

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Santos coffee futures dropped the daily trading limit of 200 points in practically all deliveries in early trading today. The market subsequently bounded up sharply on short covering to retrace a major part of the losses. Early selling stemmed from advices that all Brazilian cabinet members had tendered their resignations. However, the reports continued to stress that the changes semmed from political considerations and were not concerned with the coffee policy. The green coffee market was firm, with prices higher than on the preceding day. Roasters were on the sidelines in view of erratic price movements in futures which reflected confusion over Brazilian developments.

Spot Santos No. 4 ex-dock closed at 57.50-58.00a. Cost and freight offerings include Santos Bourbons 3s at 56.50-57.00, and 5s 55.50-56.00n.

Toccoa Plant Gets 'Modernity' Award

By JIM MONTGOMERY

It's the new $5.5 million Coats & Clark, Inc., thread plant.

The plant was chosen in nationwide competition with 500 other candidates nominated by leading architects and engineers, sponsored by Factory Management and Maintenance, a McGraw-Hill publication.

Designed and engineered by the J. E. Sirrene Co. and built by the Daniel Construction Co., both of Greenville, S.C., it employs 300 workers in the manufacture of industrial and domestic thread.

The 364,000-square-foot building is situated on a 95-acre tract of land, and has both the room and flexibility for future expansion and modernization.

The import of the award is nationwide, for the 10 winning plants were required to be of "general interest and significance for a broad range of plant operating executives in many types of manufacturing industries and in companies of all sizes."

Georgia Adds to Value of Products

The value added by manufacture of goods produced in Georgia has risen more than half a billion dollars since 1947, according to a Census Bureau survey just released through the Commerce Department's Atlanta field office.

Entitled the "1953 Annual Survey of Manufactures," it reflected a rise of from $1,015,999,000 in 1947 to $1,545,467,000 in 1953. At the same time, the number of manufacturing employes rose by 56,441 to 306,367. Their wages and salaries climbed from $484,246,000 in 1947 to $848,075,000 in 1953.

Trend Continued Throughout Southeast

The same survey showed the value added by manufacture of goods in the Southeastern states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas rose from $5,941,616,000 in 1947 to $9,020,573,000 in 1953.

New Garage To Straddle C. of Ga. Gap

Construction of a $350,000 five story parking garage over the Central of Georgia tracks between Broad and Forsyth streets, NW, is due to begin within 30 days it was announced Wednesday.

The 250-car, ramp-type structure will adjoin a two-story variety store building, completely covering the gap between the two streets.

STORE ADJOINING

Work on the previously announced store is also scheduled to begin within a few weeks. It will front some 100 feet on both Broad and Forsyth.

The new garage will have a 38-foot entrance on Broad, and will front 90 feet on Forsyth—diagonally across the street from Rich's garage.

Carparking, Inc., a Georgia firm headed by Stanley D. Ebner, will own and operate the parking structure, for which it has leased 50-year air rights over the tracks from Ben J. Massell.

HANDLES NEGOTIATIONS

John O. Chiles, president of Adams-Cates, realtors, handled lease negotiations. Mrs. Minnie R. Ebner is co-owner of Carparking, Inc., and Joseph J. Fine is secretary and attorney.

The garage, which will have a steel base encased in concrete spanning the tracks, was engineered by Armstrong and Edwards. To be built of a new-type lightweight concrete, it will begin at street level.

New Wheat Paces Grain

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—Plus and minus signs were about equally divided in the grain list at the close on the Board of Trade today. In a thoroughly mixed up market, new crop wheat deliveries showed the most firmness. New crop soybeans were weak, and so were all contracts of oats except May.

Wheat closed ⅜ lower to ⅝ higher, corn ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, oats ⅞ lower to ⅛ higher, rye unchanged to ¼ lower, soybeans 2¼ lower to ¼ higher and lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Wheat opened on a price bulge, sold off below the previous close and then came back again. The firmness in new crop contracts was attributed in part to the possibility of damage to wheat from frost in some sections of the winter wheat belt.

Business in Brief

Elwood R. Queseda, Lockheed vice president and general manager of the Missile Systems Division, Van Nuys, Calif., will be guest speaker at the April meeting of the Lockheed Management Club of Georgia at the Progressive Club in Atlanta Tuesday. A retired Air Force lieutenant general, he was commander of the task forces conducting the Eniwetok nuclear experiments. Queseda was an executive of Olin Industries before joining the aircraft firm in December, 1953.

E. R. Queseda

CROSLAND PROMOTED

Edward B. Crosland, formerly of Atlanta, has been promoted from assistant vice president and attorney to assistant to the president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York. A native of Alabama, he joined the legal staff of Southern Bell in Atlanta in 1946. He was promoted to general attorney three years later, and in 1952 was appointed assistant vice president and attorney for AT&T in Washington.

EXCLUSIVE AGENT

The Ashcraft-Wilkinson Co. of Atlanta has been appointed exclusive sales agent for nitrogenous materials to be manufactured by the Escambia Bay Chemical Corp. in a new 30-million-dollar plant to be constructed this year near Pensacola, Fla. The only plant of its type on the Gulf Coast east of New Orleans, it will serve Georgia and Florida and parts of other Southern states with ammonium nitrate, anhydrous ammonia, nitric acid, nitrogen solution and other by-products when production starts early in 1956.

NEW SALES MANAGER

Carl J. Harshbarger of Atlanta, formerly district manager of the Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s radio-TV division, has been appointed general sales manager of the Kay-Townes Antenna Co. in Rome. He will direct the manufacturing firm's advertising, sales and sales promotion. A native of Ohio, Harshbarger joined Westinghouse in Atlanta in 1935.

Cotton Stays About Same

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 70 cents a bale lower today in slow trading.

Most of the activity centered about switching operations in nearby May to old crop July and later deliveries as merchants transferred hedges forward.

New Orleans was a prominent seller at New York, including selling of 5,000 bales of December contracts in early dealings and 5,000 bales of new May futures during the afternoon.

L&N Board Okays Merger With NC&St.L

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 6 (AP)—Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. stockholders today approved a merger with the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway.

The merger will be accomplished by an exchange of 1½ shares of common stock ($50 par value) of the L.&N. for each share of the common stock ($100 par value) of the N.C.&St.L.

The N.C.&St.L. operates 1,043 miles of railroad within the general area of the L.&N. and has a capital stock of $25,600,000.

The L.&N., the N.C.&St.L. and another subsidiary, the Clinchfield Railroad, operate 4,737 miles of railroad in 14 states.

Stockholders also voted an amendment to the L.&N. charter authorizing an increase in capital stock from $125 millition to $150 million to consumate the merger.

Both actions are subject to approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

After the annual meeting of stockholders, directors assembled and reelected all officers. They also declared a $1.25-a-share dividend on L&N common stock, payable June 13 to stockholders of record May 2.

Lockheed's Board Due At Marietta

The Georgia Division of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. at Marietta will be host to this month's meeting of the firm's board of directors on Friday, April 16.

The Lockheed directors have met in Marietta once each year since the opening of the Georgia division in 1951.

The board members also will view two projects initiated since they last met in Marietta—production of the C130 turbo-prop cargo plane and the 2,000-foot-long B47 modification line.

President Robert E. Gross, who is also chief executive of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, is scheduled to address the Atlanta section of IAS Wednesday night, April 13.

USL Dickering For Savannah Steamship Line

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—United States Lines said today it is negotiating for the purchase of South Atlantic Steamship Line, Savannah.

A spokesman declined to give further details. He pointed out that before the sale could be concluded, it would have to have approval of the Maritime Administration.

The South Atlantic Steamship Line has an application for a subsidy with the government and the Maritime Administration reportedly made a favorable recommendation on it recently.

The line has four C2 cargo ships in the Transatlantic service. Its American ports include Wilmington, N.C.; Charleston, S.C.; Savannah and Brunswick, Ga.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Norfolk and Newport News, Va. Its European ports include Bremen, Hamburg, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Liverpool, Glascow, Dublin, Avonmouth, London and Leith.

John R. Henry To Head Bank

COLUMBUS, Miss., April 6 (AP)—John R. Henry, Southeastern division manager of International News Service in Atlanta will become president of the Merchants and Farmers Bank here June 1.

Henry, a native of Columbus, succeeds the late Dr. E. Q. Withers, who died March 12. His resignation from INS becomes effective May 14.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—World and domestic sugar futures were about unchanged in quiet trading today. World raws were quoted at about 3.30 cents a pound f.o.b. Cuba. In the domestic raw market a New York refiner bought 3,000 tons of Philippines in port at 5.88 cents a pound delivered. This was off two points on the spot price. Other offerings were held at 5.95 cents. Demand for refined was slow.

Atlanta Produce

Irish potatoes continued to hold the spotlight on the Atlanta produce market as prices again advanced on all types Wednesday morning to a level of 1.50 per hundred pounds above a week ago for old stock and 3.00 per hundred above levels of about week ago for Florida new crop; demand was good as prices advanced. Trading in general was about moderate late Tuesday and early Wednesday with receipts moderate, according to the A.M.S.

Turnips and greens were ample for the demand with considerable ordinary to fair stock. Bunched turnips ranged 1.75-2.50; collards 2.00-2.50 dozen; mustard mostly 1.50-1.75, and turnip greens 1.50-2.50, mostly 2.00-2.25 bushel; green onions sold at 75-90 cents dozen, few 1.00. Florida cabbage brought from 1.50-2.25, few best higher, and some Georgia stock was offered for around 2.00 per bag.

Sweet potatoes and citrus fruits were unchanged. Very few Louisiana strawberries sold early for 9.00 per 24-pound crate. Georgia Iceberg lettuce in crates of four dozen moved at 7.00 with half crates at 3.50. Florida 50-pound paper bags of round red potatoes U.S. No. 1 size A brought 3.50-3.75, few 3.25, U.S. commercial 2.75-2.90, few 3.00, ordinary 2.50-2.75, US. No. 1 size B mostly 3.00-3.25 per bag. Old-crop potatoes were mostly 4.50 per sack. Florida crates of Pascal celery 3 dozen ranged 3.00-3.25; crate cauliflower few 3.75; pole beans 3.50-4.25, good stock mostly 3.75-4.00, poorer low as 1.50; Tendergreen beans fair to best were 2.75-3.25 bushel; yellow crookneck squash 7.00-8.00; cucumbers few best 17.00, fair 11.50-13.00 bushel; bell peppers, large 4.00-5.00; eggplant few best 3.00, fair 1.50-2.25, poorer 1.00 and up; few best limas were 6.00-6.50, poorer lower; few best butter beans were 7.50; radishes held at 1.00 dozen film bags; escarole 2.50-2.75; endive 3.00-3.25 per crate. Florida crate fancy yellow corn, five dozen ranged 3.50-4.00, with best to 4.25, others from 2.25 to 3.00, according to quality.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—The cotton textile market was slow Wednesday. The highlight was the withdrawal from the market of a large mill producing print cloths and broadcloths. This move was based on a squeeze between raw cotton and cloth prices which it was said make it unprofitable to sell cloth at present quotations. Small sales of the popular 80 square cloth were noted at 18½ cents a yard in resale for spot and some forward business was booked in first hands at that price.

In wool goods, another mill withdrew its worsted line from the market and was said to be sold up through July. This followed the action of three other mills which previously had withdrawn, with merchants of the opinion that when the mills re-enter the market prices will be raised.

Rayon goods were slow. There was no pressure of offerings and very little converter interest at the moment. Mills hoped for a good retail Easter season as a stimulus to more active buying of rayon cloth.

Red China Air Buildup To Force West To Fight or Run, Formosans Declare

By FRED HAMPSON

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 6 (AP)—Three Chinese Nationalist military leaders said in interviews today that peace in Asia will last only so long as the West controls Formosa Strait.

When the Communists get into a position to challenge that control—of sea and air—their opposition will have to fight or retreat, these leaders said. They declared control of the strait is slipping away now.

All three asked anonymity because the subject, while military, encroaches on the political field.

They presented the side of the argument which holds that the only war capable of being localized in this area is one to keep the Reds out of the strait.

MAY WREST CONTROL

That means a war to hold the offshore islands of Quemoy and the Matsus. That means keeping Red gunboats out of the strait. That means bombing South China's airfield network now being built. The network may enable Peiping to wrest control of the air over the strait.

Last year the Communists established big air bases 100 miles south of Shanghai. The aerial punch that developed forced the Nationalists from the Tachen Islands, midway between Shanghai and Formosa.

Now the Reds are building the next tier of bases farther south. Unless these bases are bombed and put out of commission they should make the Matsus untenable. The Matsus are 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

THREATEN STRAIT

After those will come another tier which will challenge the air over Quemoy to the south, and the central strait. Finally another tier will put Red planes over the southern strait.

At present the Reds lack the capacity to attack Formosa, guarded by the U. S. 7th Fleet. Control of the air would give them that capacity.

Their small ships, junks and midget gunboats—insufficient now for invasion—then will be sufficient.

Airfields on Formosa will be bombed. So will railways and roads which now keep a fat island economy at a prosperous level with American help.

ADVANTAGE TO REDS

The generals say yes. Matsu and Quemoy block Red coastal shipping, which means that building materials now — and ammunition and fuel later — have to reach Red airfields by land route.

In mountainous Fukien Province, front on both Quemoy and the Matsus, this is a vital factor. Some people doubt a big airfield net could be maintained by highway in Fukien. They believe such a net could be supplied adequately only via the coast.

STRAIT IS PIVOT

"The pivot of war and peace in this part of the world is the control by the Nationalists and the American Navy of the Strait of Formosa.

"No major fight will develop as long as that control stays in our hands. But when Peiping gets in a position to challenge our control, either retreat or war must come, and the war will be the kind that spreads because each side would have to go after the other's bases and communications."

When and if the Communists win control of the strait, they contend, Formosa and the whole system of Western island defenses in the Pacific will be in danger.

France's First Lady Won't See Double

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—What happened to Mrs. Eisenhower recently couldn't happen to Mrs. Rene Coty, wife of the president of France.

Mrs. Eisenhower showed up at a party in a dress identical to one worn by another guest. Mrs. Claude Salvy, press secretary to Mrs. Coty, says the French first lady has no worries along that line.

"If Dior makes a dress for Mrs. Coty, he makes only one," Mrs. Salvy said. "The incident would be impossible."

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name InfraRUB®. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Nehru Still Behaving Strangely

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

India continues to produce strange emanations.

She recently set up a corporation to borrow money and relend it for the development of private industry. Almost simultaneously with the first loan from the World Bank and from British and American as well as Indian investors, Nehru asked Parliament to change the constitution so the government would have greater powers to nationalize private business.

ATTACK BY NEHRU

While the Indian ambassador to Washington was still trying to persuade American investors that the nationalization measure was directed at internal situations and that India was well worth foreign investment, the Prime Minister chose to make a very strange attack on the United States.

He anticipated President Eisenhower by assuming the United States would defend Quemoy and Matsu if the islands were attacked by the Chinese Reds, said America was taking the position of an aggressor in the whole Formosa matter.

REDS DOMINATE

Now S. K. Patil, one of the biggest men in Nehru's all-dominating Congress party, fresh from a big victory over communism in Andhra State, has made a sudden discovery. He flew up from Bombay to New Delhi to attend a meeting of an 18-nation "nonpartisan" conference. To his seeming dismay, he found "Communists running the whole show." He and other Congress party leaders pulled out.

Now that conference has been long-advertised as an outgrowth of the 1950 Stockholm conference at which the world Communist movement launched its "peace offensive" designed to divide the Western world and make a lot of suckers think it was the West, not Russia, which was responsible for the cold war and the possibility of a shooting war.

INDIA DISTURBING

Patil said he had "thought this so-called Asian conference might be a good thing and that it had the support of Premier Nehru." If that past-tense phraseology means it does not have the support of Nehru, it is an encouragement. If it means the Indian leaders have merely decided it is inexpedient to support at this time something they were strong for before, it is still disturbing. But more disturbing is the suggestion that they just don't understand what's going on in the world. The United States is in a lot of trouble today because she was once like that.

Atomic Defense of Quemoy, Matsu Invites Raids on U.S., Kerr Claims

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) appealed publicly to President Eisenhower today to ban the use of atomic weapons in any defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

Kerr said in a statement that the employment of other than conventional weapons in fending off any Red Chinese attack against the islands "could provoke massive retaliation against American families and American homes."

Eisenhower has said that precision atomic weapons may be used on military targets in any hostilities larger than a mere police action. This has been accepted generally in Congress as indicating such weapons would be employed if a major engagement develops in the Formosa area.

Citing "increasing capacity of enemy H-bombs," Kerr said that if the United States uses atomic weapons the action "could solidify world opinion against us" and provoke attacks on this country.

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Of the more than 7,000 bills introduced in this session of Congress, one by Rep. Thomas Curtis (R-Mo) seems the least likely to succeed.

For Curtis wants to put a constitutional limit on how long a man can hang on in Congress. And if there is any spot where congressmen show a fine, bipartisan spirit, it's here. They all want to hang on.

If Curtis had his way, each senator and representative would have to drop out for at least two years after serving 12 consecutive years.

Curtis has tried to make this departure as diplomatic sounding as possible. "Compulsory sabatical leave," he calls it.

Not many voters understand the pressures that build up to keep a man or woman in Congress. No man likes to turn loose of an important job, especially if he needs it to eat, as many congressmen do.

So the Senate, led by Sen. Walter George (D-Ga), who arrived here on Nov. 8, 1922, has 17 of 96 members with 12 years or more of consecutive service.

The House is led by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who goes all the way back to March 4, 1913, the day Wilson was inaugurated President.

It's hard to count the old noses in the House exactly, because many representatives have breaks in their service records. But around 123 of the 435 have been here for 12 consecutive years or longer.

Eight have put in more than 30 years, and, on June 30, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) will join them.

Obviously no one is going to vote for a constitutional amendment that puts him out of work. Curtis has tried to get around that by having his amendment take effect 12 years after its adoption.

But a proposed amendment needs a two-thirds vote in the House and Senate before it can be sent to the states for ratification or rejection. And with so many oldtimers around, who have found the present system pleasant, Curtis' proposal will have rough going.

He concedes this. But he is hopeful that after the idea has been kicked around awhile, other congressmen will see the same merit he sees in it.

Such as:

Giving a congressman a way to bow out gracefully, giving him a rest period at home in which he can get a fresh look at the nation's problems, providing the seniority system with a little flexibility.

As you doubtless have guessed Curtis is a young squirt as congressmen go, having arrived here only four years ago. Speaking for the squirts, Curtis says few congressmen start out intending to make a career of it.

It will be interesting to check, eight years from now, and see if the Curtis theory is right, and if the fascinating rut has claimed him, too.

Segregationist Is Fined $300

DOVER, Del., April 6 (AP)—Bryant W. Bowles, president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People, was fined $300 this morning on two counts of violating the school-attendance laws of Delaware in his fight against integrating whites and Negroes in public schools.

Common Pleas Judge A. B. Magee, who heard the case last Wednesday, gave Bowles an alternate sentence of six months in jail on each count, if the fines are not paid.

S.C. House Sees Confusion, Hatred in School Integration

COLUMBIA, S.C., April 6 (AP)—Forced integration of the races in public schools will result in "hatred, strife, chaos and confusion," a South Carolina legislative resolution declared today.

The resolution, adopted by the House and sent to the Senate, would ask the U.S. Supreme Court not to implement its May 17, 1954 decision that race segregation in the schools is unconstitutional. The court is scheduled to begin hearing arguments next Monday on how and when it should order segregation ended.

The resolution cited "the desire of white citizens" of this state "to have their children educated with those of their own race." Forced mixing of the races will "strike at the very roots of freedom and democracy" and will divide the nation "when a solid front of democracy should be presented to the world," it added.

House adoption was by voice vote but there was a small chorus of "noes." The Senate did not get a chance to act on the resolution immediately.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Freeze Toll Was Past Million In Upson, Mitchell, Meriwether

Constitution State News Service

ATHENS, April 6 — County agents throughout the state Wednesday summarized damage from the recent freeze to crops in their respective counties.

W. A. Sutton, associate director of the Agricultural Extension Service, and his staff conducted the survey.

Upson County, O. W. Burns, Agent—Total damage in excess of $1,000,000 including a $450,000 peach crop wiped out. Fifty per cent kill in 10,000 acres of wheat, and oats losses total another $250,000.

Appling County, Olen Hunt, Agent—A $26,000 loss in tobacco, alone, and it will cost $26 per acre to reset the 850 acres lost by the freeze. Ninety per cent of the pecan crop lost, representing a $43,000 value.

BULLOCH COUNTY

Bulloch County, Byron Dyer, Agent—Normal value of pecans is $500,000 and the crop is a complete loss. Approximately $60,000 worth of labor and plants lost in the tobacco crop. Practically all beans, potatoes, and three-fourths of the watermelons were wiped out or damaged severely.

Chatham County, D. W. Strohbehn, Agent—Snap beans, Irish potatoes, sweet corn and watermelons a total loss. Clovers were killed, and about 75 per cent of the grasses and pastures damaged. At least $100,000 loss.

Twiggs County, H. F. Shurling, Agent—Losses in the oat crop alone totaled $40,000. More than 400 farmers had winter grazing damaged.

Cook County, W. L. Smith, Agent—Two thousand acres of cotton already planted was killed. Seven hundred fifty farmers had planted 1,200 acres of tobacco and one-sixth of this will have to be replanted. A $15,000 loss resulted from 5,000 acres of corn that will have to be replanted.

WORTH COUNTY

Worth County, Grady Phillips, Agent—Pecan crop 90 per cent loss representing $100,000. One thousand acres out of 1,800 in tobacco will have to be replanted. The loss in tobacco plants and labor for setting totaled $43,000. Around 11,000 acres of oats were damaged for an estimated loss of $25,000. Twenty thousand acres out of 25,000 acres planted to corn were destroyed.

Echols County, Lyde Thomas, agent: One hundred per cent of cucumbers, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and watermelons planted were killed. Approximately half of the 1,250 acres in corn killed. About one-third of the tobacco will have to be replanted.

Jeff Davis County, James C. Stewart, agent: About 200 acres already planted in cotton destroyed. Loss in tobacco plants and labor setting totaled about $35,000. Ninety per cent of $15,000 pecan crop destroyed.

Bleckley County, Roy Coley, agent: Fruit, grain, corn and cotton killed or seriously damaged; $180,000 loss in the peach crop and $25,000 in pecans.

Dooly County, William A. Jones, agent: A $180,000 pecan and $75,000 peach crops destroyed. One thousand acres cotton, 5,000 acres in corn killed.

MITCHELL COUNTY

Mitchell County, J. A. Mauldin, agent: Approximately 30 per cent damage to 20,000 acres of winter grazing. Ninety per cent damage to the pecan crop represents a $750,000 loss. Approximately a $240,000 loss on 30,000 acres of corn, 2,000 acres of tomatoes and 2,500 acres of watermelons destroyed. Loss in cotton alone was approximately $80,000 with nearly all of the 11,000 acres already planted killed.

Baker County, W. D. Drennon, agent: A $30,000 loss in pecans. A $10,000 loss in corn, and a $25,000 loss in small grain.

Clay County, D. C. Brumbalow, agent: A $5,000 loss on winter grazing; $20,000 loss on pecans and approximately 3,000 acres of corn must be replanted.

Dougherty County, J. D. Davis, agent: Truck crops and gardens severely damaged. Eighty to 90 per cent of the pecan crop and all peaches lost. All cotton planted was killed.

BIBB COUNTY

Bibb County, D. F. Bruce, agent: The pecan crop was about a 70 per cent loss, totaling $345,000. The $70,000 peach crop destroyed.

Grady County, S. E. George, agent: The $200,000 pecan crop was a 95 per cent loss and the $5,000 peach crop destroyed; 100 acres tobacco and 10,000 acres corn killed. Snap beans, okra, cantaloupes, watermelons and tomatoes wiped out.

Calhoun County, H. J. Harris, agent: Clovers in permanent pastures were damaged more than temporary grazing crops. About 400 acres cotton and 1,500 acres corn will have to be replanted.

Taylor County, Vernon Reddish, agent: About $12,000 damage in permanent and temporary pastures. A 100 per cent loss in peaches and pecans.

Jones County, S. B. Adair, agent: The $75,000 peach crop destroyed.

Burke County, Joel Chappell, agent: The $115,000 pecan crop and $10,000 worth of peaches destroyed; 2,000 acres in corn lost.

Oconee County, Frank Stancil, agent: A $54,000 peach crop was destroyed. About 1,000 acres in wheat were damaged severely. About 3,000 acres in oats were destroyed. Small grain losses totaled nearly $100,000.

Jasper County, J. O. Chandler, agent: A $470,000 peach crop was wiped out and a $27,000 loss suffered in pecans. Losses in small grains total more than $300,000.

Madison County, Curtis Collier, agent: A $40,000 loss in lespedeza. A $250,000 loss in wheat and a $180,000 loss in oats. Some 200 acres of alfalfa were damaged.

Wilkes County, Allmon Carter, agent: About 100 acres corn will have to be replanted. Value of hay lost, $1,000; oats, $8,000; wheat, $4,000; peach and apple crops destroyed.

Hart County, W. V. Chafin agent, $225,000 oat crop killed wheat loss, $75,000; peaches, $11,000; winter grazing, $5,000.

Baldwin County, E. H. Jackson agent: 900 acres oats killed, a loss of $18,000. $25,000 loss in pecans.

Gwinnett County, Ned W. Shirley, agent: 100 acres alfalfa lost; $40,000 loss in the oat crop and a $12,000 loss in wheat; 90 per cent loss in the $12,000 apple crop.

Washington County, S. G. Mercer; agent: Corn crop, estimated $150,000 loss; $25,000 loss in the oat crop and about $20,000 in wheat.

Morgan County, J. K. West, agent: There was an approximate loss of $50,000 in winter grazing and the peach crop was destroyed; oat crop loss, $50,000 and wheat, $10,000.

Walton County, H. H. Shores, agent: A 40 per cent loss in oats and a 50 per cent loss in wheat, totaling about $50,000.

Oglethorpe County, Bill Watson, agent: About 600 acres in alfalfa were damaged and wheat and oats were damaged approximately 25 per cent.

Coweta County, B. T. Brown, agent: $175,000 peach crop destroyed; small grains damaged, 50 to 75 per cent.

Polk County, Johnny Stowe, agent: Small grain damaged 60 to 65 per cent. Approximately 450 acres of alfalfa damaged, almost $30,000 worth.

Haralson County, A. B. Bond, agent: Oats and wheat damaged about 50 per cent, approximately $40,000 losses.

Carroll County, Harold Darden, agent: $30,000 loss in oats and wheat.

Monroe County, E. G. Blackwell, agent: $85,000 loss in peaches and about $10,000 in small grain damage.

Clayton County, C. S. Tucker, agent: About $300,000 lost in peaches and winter grazing. Grain crops damaged about 20 to 35 per cent.

Spalding County, N. V. Davis, agent: $400,000 peach crop destroyed; $20,000 loss in pecans; small grain damaged more than $100,000.

Henry County, H. H. Findley, agent: A $75,000 peach crop destroyed; small grains, $100,000.

Meriwether County, R. C. Buchanan, agent: A $1,000,000 loss on peach crop and some damage to trees; a $25,000 loss in winter grazing and a $50,000 loss to grain.

Talbot County, R. H. McRae, agent: The $250,000 peach crop was wiped out and small grain acreage damaged.

Banks County, E. F. Lyon, agent: The $50,000 peach crop was destroyed and the grain crop damaged 20 to 40 per cent.

Chattooga County, M. H. Purcell, agent: The $75,000 peach crop was destroyed and grain crops were damaged.

Forsyth County, W. H. Rucker, agent: A $30,000 loss in winter grazing and approximately 25 per cent damage to small grains.

Whitfield County, H. B. Scoggins, agent: A $70,000 loss in small grains and about $5,000 loss in alfalfa.

W. Europe Rebuilding Gains Cited

Report Sees U.S. Aid Growing Less

PARIS, Thursday, April 7 (AP) — Western European countries were told today they have made striking progress in rebuilding their economies and there is high hope for even greater advances.

This was the conclusion of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation in its sixth annual review. It was the first frankly optimistic review the OEEC has published.

Calling for further economic expansion and progress toward the free exchange of national currencies, the review said the United States "has a large part to play" in achieving those goals.

OEEC predicted U. S. cooperation, "which may have to take new forms, will not be lacking." But it emphasized that "European countries will depend for their progress primarily on their own efforts."

The report made these points:

1. Western Europe achieved advances in standards of living, gold and dollar reserves in many countries, industrial and agricultural activity, and financial stability. Trade barriers were reduced.

2. "The task which Western Europe now faces is to build a better economy than that existing before the war. For member countries have completed — even exceeded — the economic recovery which, when the Marshall Plan began, was no more than a hope."

The OEEC was originally set up to handle the European end of Marshall Plan aid and has continued as a coordinating economic body.

3. "The improvement in the standard of living in Western Europe, compared to prewar, while limited, is nonetheless remarkable in view of the efforts which member countries have had to make to increase their exports and investment and meet defense requirements."

4. Consumption per capita, which took a big drop due to wartime shortages and devastation, had regained its 1938 level by 1950. In 1954 it was 12 per cent above the prewar figure. The corresponding increase in the United States was 45 per cent.

Perky Anti-War Widow, 81, Dies Winner Over Tax Men

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 6 (AP)—An 81-year-old widow's quiet little feud with the federal government is over. Mrs. Caroline Foulke Urie died Monday, before the deadline for filing 1955 income tax reports.

Mrs. Urie was a lifelong Quaker. A naval officer's widow, she decided in the late 1940s to withhold part of her income tax because it was being spent for war.

Each year she studied the federal budget and made up her mind about what percentage could be called war expenditures. She filed a correct income tax return, but did not pay the full amount. She withheld the war percentage and donated that amount to organizations promoting peace.

"The sum was small," her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Hoerr, said today. "She had given her property and household goods to me and the grandchildren and had only the income from one trust fund.

"She had a number of visits from revenue men, about once a year, and they talked it over. I think she may have hoped they would make an issue of it, but they never did."

Mrs. Hoerr said the question of the unpaid taxes cannot be taken up now. If the government sends a bill to the estate, the attorneys will have to examine the will and the trust fund.

"Later we'll sit down with the lawyers and meet that question," said the daughter.

REVOLUTIONARY PLANE FOR NAVY

By RICHARD WITKIN

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, April 6—The Lockheed Aircraft Corp. announced today that it was producing a revolutionary jet training plane for the Navy.

The two-place jet, the T2V1, incorporates an ingenious air-blowing device that enables it to take off and land in a much shorter distance then it would otherwise require.

The Lockheed plane is designed to reduce sharply the hazard in training pilots for operations from aircraft carriers, where runway area is limited. There is every reason to believe the new device eventually will be adapted for use on all types of fixed-wing planes requiring extensive landing and take-off runs.

PEACE ADAPTATION

Perfection of the device will be especially welcomed in the passenger plane field. The 550-mile-an-hour highly streamlined jet liners expected to start air line operations by 1960 may well be able to take off and land at or below the conservative speeds of their piston-engine antecedents.

The mechanism on the new trainer that makes possible the slower speeds and shorter runway requirements works this way:

Highly compressed air is diverted from the Allison J33 engine into a tube running inside the rear end of the wing. The air is then blown at very high speed through slots in the tube and out over the top of lowered wing flaps and the ailerons.

To appreciate what this accomplishes, it is important to keep in mind how an airplane gets the lift that makes it fly. Most of the lift comes from the fact that air pressure on top of the wing is less than pressure below. This difference is achieved by curving the upper surface while leaving the under surface relatively straight.

LOW PRESSURE LIFT

Air traveling over the upper curved surface must move faster if it is to reach the rear edge of the wing at the same time as air moving over the bottom. The faster air moves over a surface, the lower the pressure on that surface. So the pressure of the faster air on top is lower than the pressure of the air below, and the plane rises.

The device on the Navy trainer accentuates this difference in pressure in these ways:

It simply increases the speed of the air flow on top of the wing and the pressure there is lower than ever.

It turns the air around the corner from the rear edge of the wing to the flap bent down behind it. If the air were not diverted over the top of the flap, the normal flow would not turn the corner so neatly and the business of decreasing topside pressure would be handicapped.

PREVIOUS HANDICAP

Actually, this trouble in turning the corner has been a handicap in flaps up to now. What the flaps have been doing is simply providing extra lift through the direct force of the air stream on the under surface.

The air-blowing device was perfected by a Navy Bureau of Aeronautics team headed by a 34-year-old civilian engineer, John Attinello of Phillipsburg, N.J.

The new mechanism, mounted on a Gruman F9F Panther, enabled the plane to land at 92 miles an hour instead of the 115 miles of conventional Panthers and to take off or land in about half the normal distance.

Sunshine Halts Frost-Nipped Girls From Illinois—They Halt N.O. Traffic

NEW ORLEANS, April 6 (AP)—Three teen-age girls from Skokie, Ill., thought the sunshine and summery weather in New Orleans today were just made to order for sunbathing.

Jo Ann Lotz, 17, explained to Police Sgt. William Balser: "It was no nice and the sun was so warm. The park looked so comfy and it's been so cold in Skokie."

Sgt. Balser suggested they try one of the larger parks or beaches. The girls agreed and moved on. So did traffic.

Party Risk, Pravda Says Of Churchill

MOSCOW, Thursday, April 7 (AP)—Pravda said today Sir Winston Churchill resigned as Britain's Prime Minister not because of his age but because his reputation as a statesman had been so undermined he constituted a liability to the Conservatives in the coming elections.

An editorial in the Communist party organ was the first Soviet comment on Churchill's resignation Tuesday. The news that Churchill had stepped down was reported previously to the Russian people.

CITES "FAILURE"

Pravda said factors which weakened Churchill were:

"1. He suffered a fiasco in the sphere of foreign policy because he disregarded the demands of the British people who insisted that effective measures be taken to eliminate international tension. He several times stated he favored the calling of a conference of heads of the great powers but he did not confirm this by actions.

"2. He recently told the House of Commons he allegedly gave way to an American refusal to call a great power conference, thereby publicly placing the demands of the ruling circles of the United States higher than the demands of his people.

REFERS TO NAZIS

"3. Another act undermining his position as head of the government and party was the notorious confession last November on the intention to use German Fascist troops and weapons against the Soviet army at the end of the second world war.

"4. His recent speech defending the use of atomic and hydrogen weapons inflicted even greater injury to his influence.

"More and more ground fell out from under his feet," Pravda said, "and therefore the resignation was arranged."

"SERVED IMPERIALISM"

The newspaper said Churchill's lengthy political career showed he "carried out a policy answering the interests of British imperialism."

"His many years of political activity show abundant examples of antagonistic treatment of the working classes in Britain and among colonial peoples," it continued.

Summing up, Pravda said Churchill's retirement was necessary since he "too candidly went against the will of broad public circles, thereby menacing the further continuance of his party in office after the general elections."

Stocks' Gains Don't Aid Farmers, Preston Asserts

Constitution State News Service

CLAXTON, April 6—"Record high prices of shares on the New York Stock Exchange may mean new levels of prosperity for the millionaires who compose the cabinet of President Eisenhower, but they mean nothing to the farmers who are being ground between high prices for seed, feed and fertilizer on the one hand and lower prices for farm products on the other."

Congressman Prince H. Preston made this statement before the Claxton Rotary Club Wednesday in an address in reaffirming his stand for 90 per cent of parity.

100% FOR 90%
Prince Preston

Last year's Republican Congress substituted a sliding scale of farm-price supports permitting 75 per cent of parity as against 90 per cent advocated by Preston. The First District representative has a bill before the present Congress to restore full 90 per cent parity prices.

NOT OUT OF LINE

Preston cited figures to demonstrate that farm-price support costs have not been out of line with aid given other segments of the American population.

Government expenditures for "current expenses for aids and special services" for the years 1949-1955, as listed by the Bureau of the Budget, show that many more billions of dollars were spent for aids to business and industry through subsidies to shipping and air lines, postal subsidies, unemployment insurance, tax write-offs, school lunches and the like than were expended on the farm-support program, Preston pointed out.

DIFFERENCE

In answering the argument that 90 per cent of parity prices farm products out of the market, the Congressman stated that the difference between 75 per cent of parity and 90 per cent of parity means "only a difference of four cents on the price of a $3 shirt, five cents in the price of a $5 cotton house dress,less than one cent in the retail price of a loaf of bread and less than one-half cent in the price of a package of cigarettes."

"No one is going to be deterred from making a purchase because of such a minute difference in retail price," Congressman Preston emphasized, "but the difference between 75 per cent of parity and 90 per cent of parity means economic life or death to the millions of hard-pressed producers of the basic farm crops of this country."

Preston stated that he had been active in obtaining approval by the Farmers Home Administration of a new program of loans to farmers whose newly planted crops were destroyed by the recent freeze.

2 Investment Companies To Vote With Avery

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Two investment companies which own the largest block of Montgomery Ward stock held by any institution announced today they will support Sewell L. Avery in his battle to keep control of the mail order firm.

The announcement by Affiliated Fund, Inc., which owns 90,000 shares of Ward stock, and American Business Shares, Inc., owner of 15,000 shares, was a big boost for Avery in his fight against millionaire financier Louis Wolfson for the Ward chairmanship.

The decision was announced by Harry I. Prankard II, president of both investment companies, who said the stock "will be voted for reelection of present directors."

Ward has a total of 6,703,932 voting shares outstanding.

Acquires Sterling

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Standard Packaging Corp. today announced the purchase of assets of Sterling Products, Inc., Los Angeles, producer of paper plates, cups and related items.

Police Are Sure The Samaritan Is Not a Thief

Police elected to believe he or she was a Samaritan.

The situation developed Wednesday morning when a sackful of knives and daggers was found at the Peachtree Road Methodist Church Boy Scout hut.

"To Boy Scouts—a friend."

Detectives R. B. Moore and Henley Wilbur said they would check the items to determine if they had been stolen. If they haven't, they will be returned to the Scouts.

Acworth Students

ACWORTH, April 6—The senior class of Acworth High School will have a paper trail at the lake Thursday night, followed by a wiener roast under the "big shelter" at the beach, according to Ouida Roton, president.

Chaperon will be D. M. Pridmore, history and government instructor at the school.

'Malicious' Wooing Puts Woman in Jail

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—A 52-year-old woman today began a six-month jail term for "malicious" wooing.

Mrs. Alice Chenier Ferguson was sued by Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard, 42, for $50,000. Mrs. Pritchard charged she alienated the affections of her husband, Roy B. Ferguson, 49.

A Circuit Court jury termed Mrs. Ferguson's wooing "malicious" and awarded Mrs. Pritchard $25,000.

The ruling stipulated that if Mrs. Ferguson didn't pay the damages—which she didn't—she must be jailed. Mrs. Pritchard must pay $3.50 a week for Mrs. Ferguson's board while she is in county jail.

N. Ga Board Members Rap School Fund Cuts

By JIMMY WALKER

Constitution Staff Writer

CLARKESVILLE, April 6—North Georgia school board members have announced their opposition to any cutback in school funds.

More than 60 board members at a regional meeting of the Georgia School Boards Assn. in Clarkesville drafted resolutions that:

1. Unanimously opposed the recent decision of the State Board of Education to prohibit local school boards from selling school supplies.

2. Called for the state Legislature to adopt the "Adequate Program of Education in Georgia."

3. Unanimously opposed any "retrenchment" of the present school system, such as abandoning instructional supervisors and visiting teachers.

The resolutions will be sent to the governor, the state Study Commission seeking to solve the state's financial dilemma, and the State Board of Education.

Claude Purcell, assistant state school superintendent in charge of finance, outlined to the group the financial needs of the school system if it is to continue its present operation. He remarked that serious consideration was being given to abolishing use of visiting teachers and instructional supervisors.

Berry Floyd, Rabun County school superintendent, said that Rabun schools had shown over 96 per cent attendance the last three months and "we don't want to go back to 78 percent."

Otis Cato of Hall County, who offered the resolution against any retrenchment in school operations, said "We don't want to go backwards." W. B. Fry of Dahlonega offered the other two resolutions.

Members of the school boards present at Clarkesville included Hart, Franklin, White, Banks, Rabun, Habersham, Hall and Lumpkin counties and the independent school systems in Tallulah Falls and Tococa.

W. J. Andrews, executive secretary of the association, presented certificates to board members who have served six years or longer.

Yemen Rebellion Quelled by King

LONDON, April 6 (AP)—A rebellion in Yemen has failed and life in the Arabian desert kingdom has returned to normal, the Yemeni legation said here tonight.

The legation said the uprising against Imam Ahmad, Yemen's king, was finally quelled yesterday. The revolt was staged by Prince Abdullah, the Imam's younger brother, and a few dissident elements in the army.

There was no information as to the fate of Prince Abdullah.

Wilson Return to Job May Settle Pentagon Row on News Tightening

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—The expected return of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to his desk tomorrow may settle a family row among Pentagon publicity officials which has choked off news sources for more than a week.

Wilson issued last week an iron-fisted order to establish "guidelines" for the handling of information which would be a "constructive contribution" to the mission of the Defense Department. Apparently only he is in a position to clear up the contention growing out of the order.

He has been absent since last Saturday, suffering from a cold.

MUST GET CLEARANCE

Wilson's order said, among other things, that defense information released by military or civilian personnel must be submitted to his office for clearance not less than three days in advance. The directive also said that personnel must assume "personal responsibility" for speeches, articles and information releases.

The immediate effect of this was far-reaching.

Reporters found that:

1. They were not permitted by the armed forces to talk to officials and experts whom they had been free to meet until then—unless specific arrangements were made through the Defense Department's Office of Director of Public Information. Even then, the officials and experts, alarmed at the terms of the Wilson order, were reluctant to agree to interviews.

2. The simplest routine questions became entangled with intricate interpretations of the new order. One reporter found he couldn't get a prompt answer about the present rank of an admiral. Another asked for a mimeographed copy of an obituary sketch of a Marine officer, and received it only after it had gone through "channels" and been approved in a covering memorandum.

A request for information on a collision between a Navy destroyer and a freighter, submitted to a district naval office, was referred to Washington. It took almost 12 hours for a statement to come.

CARRIED TO EXTREME

Some aides of Wilson's were known to feel that officials of the armed services, resentful over the order, were carrying things to extremes by obeying it to the letter even in routine matters.

Public relations officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force said they needed clarification of the order.

The Wilson order was the sharpest in a series of similar orders extending back over several years and each designed to attain centralized direction of information release, speeches and articles written by military personnel for publication.

FOLLOWS INCIDENTS

It appeared in the wake of two incidents—the writing of a magazine article by the captain of the atomic submarine Nautilus; a talk by Adm. Robert Carney, chief of naval operations, to a group of newsmen at a dinner. Some newsmen said Carney predicted the Red Chinese would attack Quemoy and Matsu Islands around April 15. Carney denied this before a congressional committee.

Coming almost simultaneously with the Wilson directive was another "memorandum" for the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries advising them to study the possibility of appointing civilians to replace the military chiefs of public information in their departments and to plan for a reducton in public relations staffs ranging from one-third to one-half.

OBITUARIES

R. Paul McMillan

R. Paul McMillan, 61, died Wednesday at his home, 302 Ninth St., NE, after a brief illness.

A native of Washington, D.C., Mr. McMillan had lived in Atlanta since 1929. He was a printer with Gus Russell Composition Shop and had formerly worked for the Atlanta Constitution, the Atlanta Georgian and the Atlanta Journal. He was a member of the International Typographical Union, Local No. 48.

Mr. McMillan was a member of the Beverley Road Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Louise M. Reichlin; four sons, Robert C. McMillan of Fayetteville, Ark.; Paul J., Frank M. and Samuel A. McMillan, all of Atlanta; and a sister, Mrs. Annie Cunningham of Boulder Creek, California.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. Bertha G. Minsk

Mrs. Bertha Greenblatt Minsk, 82, of 260 14th St., NW, died Wednesday in a private hospital after a prolonged illness.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday in the chapel of Henry M. Blanchard & Son. Rabbi Harry H. Epstein and Cantor Joseph Schwartzman will officiate. Burial will be in Crest Lawn Cemetery.

Formerly of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Minsk had lived in Atlanta about 65 years. She was the mother of the late Sol Romm, former executive of the H. Mendel Co. She was a member of the Ahavath Achim congregation.

Don't Be a Shorthand "Orphan"

A SHORTHAND "Orphan" is a person who studied an off-brand shorthand system some years ago and now, wanting to brush up, finds that it is no longer taught. Don't let this happen to you today. Take easy ABC SPEEDWRITING Shorthand, which is taught by the leading business school in each city on an exclusive franchise basis. While SPEEDWRITING Shorthand is taught only at Massey's in Atlanta; it is also taught in 13 other cities in Georgia and in 452 cities throughout the U.S. and Canada. You will never be a shorthand "orphan" with SPEEDWRITING; you will always have a mother school whenever you want and wherever you go. To all cities you receive a lifetime WRITTEN guarantee of:
1. Free Job Service.
2. Free Brush-up.
3. Free Transfer.

LOOK FOR THE CHECKERBOARD FRONT

today your Dr Pepper costs more here's why—

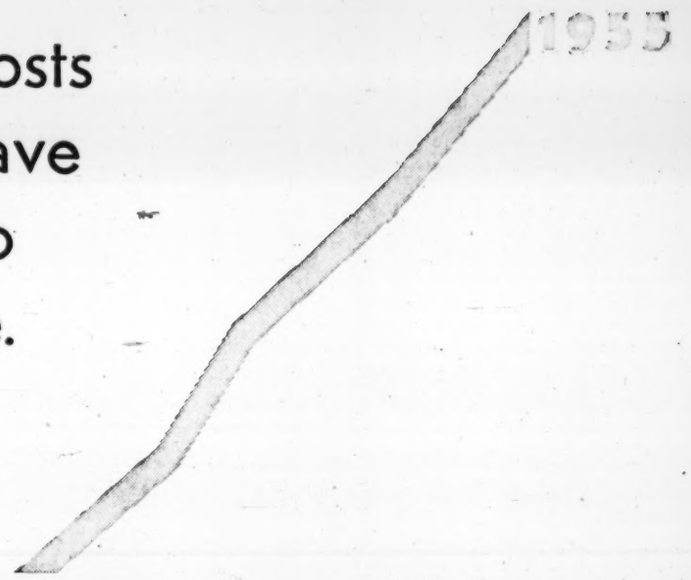
Fifteen years of rising costs and shrinking profits have made it impractical to maintain the 5c price.



Look at the facts:

IN 1940		IN 1955
Sugar (per CWT) cost	$4.29	Sugar (per CWT) cost	$8.69
Wooden cases (each)	.41	Wooden cases (each)	.87
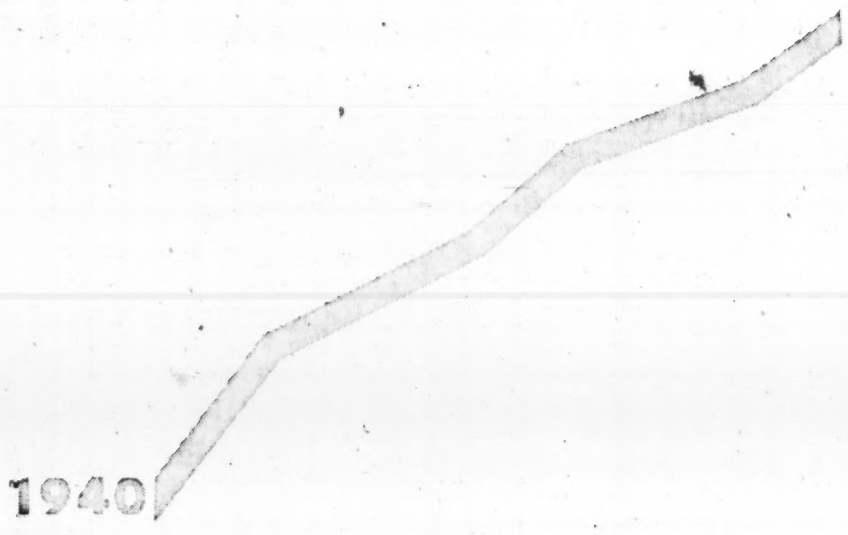
Truck & Body	1,209.00	Truck & Body	3,306.79

Other expenses are up proportionally



INCREASED COSTS MAKE 10c A FAIR PRICE TODAY

We think Economic Freedom is just as important to the American Way of Life as Political and Religious Freedom and we'll fight for the right to preserve it.
